Marian,

Thank you so much for writing. I am 60 years old and married to James Walter Myers. I grew up in Rensselaer, IN. , close to Kentland, but not knowing of my ancestry. My husband lived in Shoals, IN. until 7th grade when he moved to Rensselaer. We have one daughter, Amy Catherine, who lives in FL. and works at the University of South FL. in Tampa. Jim and I have lived in Troy , MI. for many years. I was an elementary teacher until retiring a few years ago and Jim is retired from the business world.

It`s interesting that you were married to a person named "Shirley" . A couple of years ago, I was in contact with a person giving me info on my husband`s Myers family and there were connections to the name " Shirley" and to Indianapolis.

I have visited the grave site of Louisa Catherine Gipson Brees and Moses Brees in Kentland last summer as my sister knew where it was. I have seen the one for her daughter, Celina , in Goodland a couple of summers ago when Jim was taking my dad for a drive.

My Dad ,who is 88 ,has been living at the George Ade Memorial Health Care Center in Brook, IN. for the last couple of years. We just got word that he is only expected to live for a few days. I am packing today and going down tomorrow. My two brother and one sister are taking turns being with him and also have a Hospice nurse there.

I will have to put my exchange of info and questions on hold for now , but will get back to you .

THANKS !!!!
Nancy Myers

Hard to believe.... the years have sure flown by. I'm glad you have found the happiness you have with Ed. He's not Dad, but my kids love him just like a grandpa. Much the same as I cared for Charlotte as a child and appreciated her giving Gong Gong such great companionship.

God does work in mysterious ways.

Subject: Tomorrow

Dear Family and friends: Ed and I just realized tonight that tomorrow is our 11th wedding anniversary. We will go to the British Open Pub tomorrow night for dinner so Ed can have his favorite kidney pie. We thank you all for your love and support. We are both thankful for the years of fun and companionship together. It's a blessing for both of us.

Tonight, our old friend George the Egret showed up at the back door. We think he spotted the bird feeder which went up yesterday. We know him from the others because he can catch bits of food in mid-air and the others wait for it to land on the ground.

We were concerned that the hurricanes blew our resident birds away; but we have begun to see some of our old friends – the Sandhill Crane couple with the Dad with the bent leg–they are accompanied by a teenage offspring. There is also a pair of Woodstorks in the area. ... All for tonight. Love you all Mhozzie and Ed

Dear Nancy Alice -- Thank you for contacting me. I have not been in touch with Mark Williams for some time; and can't recall now how he is descended from our line of Gibsons/Gipsons.

My information concerning the two children of Lucinda Jane Andrews Gipson comes from an uncle who died in 1950. He was the family genealogist and was in touch with many people a generation older than he was. I have no reason to doubt his information (he was very accurate in other matters) ; and I have seen nothing to either support or refute his information. I have visited the grave of George Washington Gipson, who is buried in Kirklin -- as I recall.

According to my uncle, Louisa Catherine probably died in Kentland, IN. 16 Aug 1912. If you haven't found her elsewhere, try looking for her there.

Lucinda Jane Gipson was Lucinda Jane Johnson. She was the daughter of Andrew Johnson, according to one marriage record in Floyd County KY. There were two Andrew Johnsons in Floyd Co. and I could never find enough information to figure out which one was her father. If you ever find out any more about her--- would appreciate what you find.

I do not have Celina Gipson as a child of Louisa Catherine's.. Here is what I have --
Silvester -- b. 4 Jan 1855
Louis - d. inf. 27 Mar 1856
Arizona b. 3 aug. 1859
Nancy Ann b. 1 Oct. 1861
Zeora Emmaline, b. 7 Nov 1861
Eling Jane, b. 8 Feb 1866
Moses Elam, b. 27 Mar 1868
Lydia Isabel, b. 16 Aug 1869
Leonard, b. 11 Nov. 1871
Nora b. 6 Jan 1874
Phoebe Roselia, b. 17 Jul 1875
Calvin, b. 11 Aug. 1877

Many of the above kids were born in Kentland. Where was Celina born?

I have always taken my Uncle's story about Lucinda's Indian lover with a grain of salt. There were many veiled references to "Indian Blood" in my family which (as a child) I didn't understand. I have no other explanation for the exisitence of Lucinda's two children born after her husband died in 1837. She later married her daughter's brother-in'law and took about 10 years off her age in the next census. She was something else! I haven't the faintest idea where she is buried. Her name would have been Lucinda Wells at time of death. I'll see if I can find her.

We are presently in Venice, Florida -- for the winter. Alot of my stuff is in my home in Indianapolis, IN where I was born and raised. I was married for 43 yrs. to Walter L. Shirley Jr.; who died in 1992. I later married Ed Porter who already had a home in Venice. We now migrate back and forth with the weather. I am 79 years old; have three grown children and five grandchildren. Ed is ahead of me -- he has 3 great grand children. (He was also born and raised in Indianapolis -- were classmates in grade school, high school and college.)
The only story which comes down from my uncle and concerns your ancestry is that my great grandfather Samuel Gipson gave George W. Gipson some land to keep him from going west with other local Indians. Never found any proof of that!

I am descended from Lucinda Jane Johnson and her husband Ezekiel Gipson through their son Samuel; whose daughter Eva Lorena was my grandmother.

I'm not sure what info you have or need. I do not have any newsclippings, documents or photos which would relate to you. I have some really neat photos of my gr. grandfather Samuel and his family taken in 1890 --- Sanuel would have been Louisa Catherine's half brother. Thanks for getting in touch with me. Marian S. Porter

Dear Nancy Zeis — Thank you for contacting me! However, both my brother and I are not descendants of Dellia Dipson. Our family is descended from Samuel Dipson, Dellia's brother. My information concerning the two children of Lucinda Jane Anderson Dipson is from a close relative who was the first family genealogist and was in touch with many people a generation older than me was. Nora b. 6 Jan 1874
Phoebe Roxella b. 27 Jul 1875
Calvin Benjamin b. 27 Jul 1875

I have a copy of Lucinda Jane Johnson's obituary. She was born in Virginia, 10 Mar 1827. She was married to Lucius Catherine Dipson on 25 Dec 1845. She died in Kentland, IN, 19 Aug 1912. She was survived by her husband and 7 children. Her obituary also says that she was a member of the Methodist Episcopal Church.

I have a copy of Lucinda's marriage record to Lucius Catherine Dipson. Witnesses were Andrew Johnson and Nancy Johnson. Lucinda's parents were Andrew Johnson and Nancy Johnson. Lucinda's husband died in 1872. She was survived by her daughter Nancy Ann Dipson Zeis about 10 years of her age. She was born in Virginia. Lucinda's father was born in Virginia. Marian Porter,

My name is Nancy A. (Shearer) Myers. My father is Thane J. Shearer. His mother was Nora Catherine (Brucker) Shearer. Her mother was Celina Jane (Brees) Brucker.
And Celina`s mother was Louisa Catherine (Gibson) Brees , originally from Kirklin, Clinton Co., IN.

I just got in contact with Mark Williams who gave me some great info.! I now know that Lucinda Jane Johnson Gibson Wells was the name of my Gt. Gt. Gt. Grandmother and that my Gt. Gt. Gt. Grandfather was an Indian. I was given the names of Louisa Catherine`s 6 half-brothers and half-sisters and her one brother, George Washington Gipson. This is a lot of new info. for me!

Do you have other info on this family? Esp. do you have any newsclippings or document copies or photos ? Do you have any info on where Lucinda is buried or anything about her parents? Any info would be appreciated . How are you related ?

Sincerely,
Nancy Myers

Hello up there: Glad you are enjoying the shows from my cruise. Two of us went for three weeks traveling to Char. Harbor, Ft. Myers Beach, Marco Island, Key West, Dry Tortugas, Big Pine Key, Looe Key and Marathon and back to Venice.
Yes I took my boat and most everything went well on the trip. The depth finder broke the second day out and had to replace it in Key West. With a 5'3" draft, you can't go many places without one. Other than that and a few other minor things, the boat preformed well and I was very happy. It is a very nice sailing boat, but alittle under powered when motoring. I am going to look into a larger prop, but I think I really need a bigger engine. I only have an 11hp diesel and I don't think that is big enough. Well, maybe in the future.
Weather was great. Had a lot of thunder boomers all around us all the time, but never was hit with any. It lightly rained for 6 hours in the Tortugas one day, but by the late afternoon it stopped and we went on a candle-lite tour of the Fort that evening so the day was not all lost. Other than that rain, we had 10minutes here and there, but nothing really bad. Got as black as coal and I didn't think they would let me back on Casey Key.
Went back to work this week so the vacation is all over. Drove past your boat today and it is still floating. Looks OK.
Guess that is all for this evening. Time to hit the sack. Hope all is well in Hoosier Land.

Research done by Pierre E. Haynes

Pierre E. Haynes (1885-1950) - family genealogist

Introduction

Mother and Daddy were a logical choice as the focus of our family history, since they were the parents of the only descendants of both George Eldridge Haynes and George Washington Osborn. Mother and Daddy's descendants are named on the following page and include two daughters, five grandchildren, and eight great grandchildren. This volume will deal with Mother's ancestors--the Hayneses, Eldridges, Wheadons, Jennisons, Singletarys, and allied families..

This compilation would not be in existence if it had not been for the extensive genealogical research done by Mother's brother, Pierre E. Haynes. When he passed away, Aunt Nelle Kidwell Haynes (Pierre's wife) gave me his two shoe-box-sized card-files full of family history. He identified and attempted to research every possible line; and in many cases, he was able to trace back to the original immigrant ancestors. Unfortunately, his specific source records were lost. Through a large number of very competent professional genealogists, I was able to confirm his information, and even fill in some of the gaps. I discovered that Pierre's information was so accurate that I felt very comfortable about using him (PEH) as a source of information where I was unable to confirm data any other way. A case in point, is naming Chloe Jennison, wife of Clark Eldridge Haynes, as the daughter of Peter and Mehitable (Singletary) Jennison. I presume PEH had access to some family record no longer known to us as I could find no other source of this information .

Some of the genealogists who helped me are Mary Catherine Grobis CGRS in Ft. Wayne, IN; Judith Luedemann CG of Roxbury, CT; Ruth Hustead of Washington D.C., and many others.

Uncle Pierre's sources included correspondence and visitations c.1920 -1940 with many, many relatives. He searched old cemetery and church records; as well as other genealogies then in existence. He used genealogical periodicals and visited family reunions. Mother was a guest for dinner at Uncle Pierre and Aunt Nell's one evening. While they were cooking dinner, Uncle Pierre told her that a cemetery in Dearborn Co. IN where some Haynes ancestors were buried was being torn up. He had gone down to get the remains of an ancestral cousin. Mother was turning meat in a skillet, standing to do so from time to time, then perching on something behind her. She asked Uncle Pierre what he had done with the remains, and he said, "You're sitting on him!"

Their brother, Park (Uncle Bim) told me just before he died that on many Friday afternoons in the 1920's, he would pick up Uncle Pierre at his office in Buffalo, NY, and they would visit old cemeteries, courthouses, churches, etc. looking for ancestors.

Because Uncle Pierre was a physicist (rare gases) and chemist, I have reasoned that he would have been just as meticulous about his genealogical research as he was his science. In addition, just as I have presented facts about myself and my sister, our children and grandchildren as well as parents and grandparents, which I know to be true of my own knowledge; I am certain that Uncle Pierre has also recorded many facts which were true of his own knowledge. Similarly the information in Maria Bell (Eldridge) Haynes' family Bible (in the possession of a cousin Haynes Miller) is true of her own knowledge, I believe it is very likely that Uncle Pierre had access to other written family records now lost to us, which were also true .

All of this by way of saying, Uncle Pierre (PEH) is a major source of my information. I am anxious to preserve his research for future generations and for those of us still living who share common ancestors--my children, grandchildren and my sister and her family as well as our many cousins. . My love to you all....Marian Shirley Porter (ne: Marian Haynes Osborn)

Endnotes

Sources: Records of Pierre E. Haynes; Elwood Cemetery records; 1880 census; obituary in Elwood Call Leader 25 Oct 1910 and orally from my mother Mary Belle Haynes Osborn; and f rom my grandmother E[illegible] Haynes. (Dee Dee)

George Eldridge Haynes (#2) parents lived on the farm of HIS grandfather Henry Haynes (#8) when George was very young. The family moved north to Kirklin, IN when grandfather was 10 years old. From 1870 to 1876, he taught school in Clinton and Tipton Counties (IN) during the winters and studied law summers, being admitted to the Clinton Co. Bar in 1874. During his school teaching years, my grandmother Eva L. Gipson (Dee Dee) was one of his students. After he and Dee Dee were married, he continued law practice in Clinton Co.

In 1891, he moved the family to Elwood, IN where he was engaged in law practice and the insurance business. In 1906, they moved to St. Louis where he was involved in a business venture with his brother Edgar Allen Poe Haynes. During that year, he became ill and returned to Elwood. (I was told that he had invested his life savings in the St. Louis venture; and when it failed, he lost everything but the house in Elwood. As a result, his health also began to fail. For more about E.A.P Haynes, see the End Notes following the section about Eldridge Clark Haynes (#4).) After a brief period in Gary, IN, where he was engaged in fire insurance business, the family returned to Elwood where they were living at the time of his death.

Grandfather was active in Elwood politics and ran for mayor at one time. Mother said he was a very orderly, organized person. His magazines were sorted and filed chronologically in a rack of his design. He also designed an end table--a drop leaf, octagonal in shape. Two or three of these are still in existence at this writing.

Pierre E. Haynes:
Sources: his own records; Elwood cemetery records, various family members; recollections and a couple of newspaper articles.

Uncle Pierre received his education from Armor Institute and Northwestern University. He won national recognition as the inventor of a helium extraction process and designer of the first two helium separation plants in the United States. He was chief gas tester for the city of Chicago, later director of research for the Linde Air Products Company in Buffalo, NY At one time, he was president of the Canadian Dry Ice Company. As a consulting chemist, he traveled extensively in the U.S. and Europe. His work had to do with the development of equipment for manufacturing oxygen, acetylene, argon, helium and other rare gases, about which he was considered a national authority at one time.

He was involved in the initial development work which resulted in the foundation of the Carbide and Carbon Chemicals Corp.; and a number of his ideas increased the production of helium for the U.S. government during World War I. (Mother said that he warned the authorities of the dangers of using hydrogen gas in dirigibles before the Hindenburg disaster.)

From 1940-50, Pierre was a low temperature consultant for the research division of Koppers Company of Pittsburgh. He owned Professional Products Company which manufactured cosmetics and podiatrist's supplies. He had more than thirty patents issued in his name, and he wrote many articles for newspapers and scientific magazines. He was also involved in some key way with starting the first nuclear chain reaction in the USA.

His hobbies included photography, music (flute) and genealogy. As has been said elsewhere, Uncle Pierre is a major source of my own data. He was a member of the Indiana State Genealogical Society , and was often a key speaker at large family reunions. He and Auntie Nelle had no children Aunt Nelle often "baby-sat" with Frank, Alice and Charley.

Paul Preston Haynes:
Sources: Anderson, IN cemetery records; PEH, various family members.

Paul Haynes was appointed by IN Governor J.P. Goodrich as a member of the Public Service Commission. He was the youngest (at that time) person to hold an appointed state office. He had a law practice in Indianapolis. Many considered him a genius and believed that (had he lived) he would certainly have become governor of IN one day. Unfortunately, he developed a brain tumor and died at a very young age. He and Hazel had no children. She later married Harold Bemis, career Navy man. In 1946, I was introduced as Paul Haynes' niece to ex-governor Goodrich. He took my hand with obvious pleasure and told me how pleased he was to meet a niece of Paul Haynes, and added that Paul's death was a tragedy because of his extraordinary talent and promise.

Park Gipson Haynes (Uncle Bim):
Sources: Uncle Bim himself, War Dept. Letter, various family members, funeral eulogy, PEH, recollections.

Uncle Bim served as Second Lieutenant in the US Army from 27 Nov 1917 to 5 Mar 1919, including 5 months in the Philippine Islands. He worked at one time for Fletcher National Bank in Indianapolis, He met Carl Fisher, who developed the Indianapolis Speedway 500 mile race track, and went with him to help in the development of Montauk Long Island, NY. There he met and married Adele Schultz. Later he followed Carl Fisher to Miami Beach, FL and worked with development of that area. When Fisher's business collapsed in the Great Depression of 1931, Uncle Bim spent the rest of his business life in the service of the US government.

He was chief of the regional personnel division of the Soil Conservation Service for many years and lived for some time in Albuquerque NM. Later he was appointed administrative officer of a project to rehabilitate Mexican railroads, thereby expediting the shipment of war materials during World War II. Uncle Bim and Aunt Dooley lived in Mexico City at that time. Later, they moved to Washington DC where he worked as a soil conservation officer for the Dept. Of Agriculture. They retired to Venice, FL in 1954. They had no children. Later in life, he suffered a stroke which paralyzed his right side. Aunt Dooley and Uncle Bim were two jolly, fun-loving people. Janey and I enjoy many happy memories of them.

Hermon Paige Haynes
Sources: PEH records, Obituary in La Grange, IL newspaper 23 Apr 1970, various family members; recollections.

Uncle Hermon attended Georgetown University Law School for two years. He served as Captain in the infantry in World War I. He went to work for Ingersoll Watch Company and lived in La Grange, IL for many years. In 1950, he was employed by another watch/clock company and moved to Pasadena, CA where he lived until his death.

He and Aunt Ruth had no children. Hermon was an accomplished piano player. It is worth noting that both Uncle Hermon and Uncle Bim were highschool (Elwood) friends of Wendal Wilkie and his brother Ed Wilkie. Wendal Wilkie was the 1940 Republican candidate for president of the US.

Mary Bell Haynes Osborn (#1)
Sources: Mother, Daddy, sister Jane; PEH; Uncle Bim; old letters and newspaper articles; cemetaery and mortuary records and recollections.

Mother's earliest memory was of holding her father's hand while they jumped from board to board in her family's new Elwood home when she was two years old. The house, at this writing, is still standing and looking pretty much as it always did. I suspect she grew up the spoiled darling as the only girl in a family with four big brothers.

She recalled how the boys hung her doll by the neck over the stair railing while she stood below crying, "Oh, my Izzie, my Izzie!" If she intruded on their play in the cellar, the boys put her on top of an old ice-box, and left her there.

She had a pet chicken named Johnnie Skinclothes because it had no feathers. Later she had a dog named Tiquer, which Frank Osborn would take in his friend's "horseless carriage" to the Elwood town limits, where they turned him loose. Tiquer knew his way back home and could beat Frank back to Mary Bell's house every time. The Haynes home was a center for Elwood's young people, who gathered to dance and sing while Hermon or Mary Bell played the piano.

Uncle Pierre paid for her two years at Valparaiso Teacher's College (now University). She moved to Indianapolis, IN with her mother and taught public school in Brightwood, an Indianapolis suburb. She pioneered in the movement to teach public school subjects to children confined by long illnesses in Indianapolis hospitals. At the same time she completed her last two years of college at Butler University.

She met Frank Osborn while they were both students at Elwood High School. He moved to Indianapolis and went to work for the Marott Shoe Store, during which time he completed 4 years at Butler University.

When it appeared that neither family would give approval for their marriage, Uncle Pierre and Aunt Nelle, then living in Buffalo, NY, suggested they come to NY and get married, which they did.

The difficulty started with a political situation in Elwood many years earlier. George Haynes was a candidate in one political party and George Osborn was a candidate in another. When a third party threatened to split the vote, the two original parties joined forces and split their slates in such a way that George Haynes was still in the running, and George Osborn was out. In addition, I have gathered that the Haynes family considered the Osborns "uneducated."

In time, both families made their peace; and moved into Dee Dee's home before Jane was born. Many years later, Mary Bell encouraged Frank to finance his parents' retirement and nursed Margaret Osborn in her final illness.

Mary Bell served many years on the board of the Maternal Health League (now Planned Parenthood Ass'n). During World War II, she served in the USO at the Indianapolis Union Station where service men were served coffee and doughnuts as they passed through. She saw only her oldest grandchild before she died too young of cancer.

He was chief of the regional personnel division of the Soil Conservation Service for many years and lived for some time in Albuquerque NM. Later he was appointed administrative officer of a project to rehabilitate Mexican railroads, thereby expediting the shipment of war materials during World War II. Uncle Elm and Aunt Dooley lived in Mexico City at that time. Later, they moved to Washington DC where he worked as a soil conservation officer for the Dept. Of Agriculture. They moved to Venice, FL in 1954. They had no children. Later in life, he suffered a stroke which paralyzed his right side. Aunt Dooley and Uncle Elm were two jolly, fun-loving people. Jane and I enjoy many happy memories of them.

Herron Pete Hayes

Source: FGU records, obituary in La Grange, IL newspaper 21 Apr 1999, various family member recollections.

Uncle Herron attended Georgetown University Law School for two years. He served as Corporal in the infantry in World War I. He went to work for Ingersoll Watch Company and lived in La Grange, IL for many years. In 1920, he was employed by another watchclock company and moved to Pasadena, CA where he lived until his death.

He and Aunt Ruth had no children. Herron was an accomplished piano player. It is worth noting that both Uncle Herron and Uncle Elm were a highly-loved (beloved) friends of Wendel Willkie and his brother Ed Willkie. Wendel Willkie was the 1940 Republican candidate for president of the US.

Mary Bell Haynes Osborn (M1)

Source: Mother, Diary, Jane Bell Hall, Uncle Elm, old diaries and newspaper articles, courtesy and memory records and recollections.

Mother's earliest memory was of looking for Father's hand while they jumped from board to board in her family's new Elwood home when she was two years old. The house, at this writing, is still standing and looking pretty much as it always did. I suspect she grew up the spoiled darling as the only girl in a family with four big brothers.

She recalled how the boys hung her doll by the neck over the stair railing while she stood below crying, "Oh, my baby, my baby!" If she intruded on their play in the cellar, the boys put her on top of an old ice-box, and left her there.

She had a pet chicken named Adonis Shickadoo because it had no feathers. Later she had a dog named Tiger, which Frank Osborn would take in his friend's "homeless carriage" to the Elwood town limits, where they turned him loose. Tiger knew his way back home and could beat Frank back to Mary Bell's house every time. The Haynes home was a center for Elwood's young people, who gathered to dance and sing while Herron or Mary Bell played the piano.

Uncle Pierre paid for her two years at Valparaiso (Indiana) College (now University). She moved to Indianapolis, IN with her mother and taught public school in Brightwood, an Indianapolis suburb. She pioneered in the movement to teach public school subjects to children confined by long illnesses in Indianapolis hospitals. At the same time she completed her last two years of college at Butler University.

She met Frank Osborn while they were both students at Elwood High School. He moved to Indianapolis and went to work for the Marmon Sloan store, during which time he completed 4 years at Butler University.

When it appeared that neither family would give approval for their marriage, Uncle Pierre and Aunt Nelle, then living in Buffalo, NY, suggested they come to NY and get married, which they did.

The difficulty started with a political campaign in Elwood many years earlier. George Haynes was a candidate in one political party and George Osborn was a candidate in another. When a third party threatened to split the vote, the two original parties joined forces and split their slates, in such a way that George Haynes was still in the running, and George Osborn was out. In addition, I have gathered that the Haynes family considered the Osborns "uneducated."

In time, both families made their peace, and moved into Dee's home before Jane was born. Many years later, Mary Bell encouraged Frank to pursue his parents' retirement and nurse Margaret Osborn in her final illness.

Mary Bell served many years on the board of the Maternal Health League (now Planned Parenthood Assn). During World War II, she served in the USO at the Indianapolis Union Station where service men were served coffee and doughnuts as they passed through. She saw only her eldest grandchild before she died too young of cancer.

Sources: Mainly PEH' but also Grace Haynes Roeburg's letters and research; records of Edgar Haynes' descendants; Maria Bell Eldridge Haynes' Bible which Cora Schwinn Haynes continued, (now in the possession of Haynes Miller, great grandson of Eldridge and Maria Bell); census; common family knowledge; recollections.

Eldridge Clark Haynes (#4)" Eldridge Clark Haynes and Maria Bell Eldridge (pronounced Mar-EYE-ah) were first cousins, both being grandchildren of Elisha Eldridge and Mary Wheadon. It appears they moved soon after their marriage to Lorraine Co. OH, where they lived until after the 1850 census. Eldridge was a carpenter and furniture maker by trade. A small one-drawer table made by him is still in existence, as are Maria Bell's butter churn and eye glasses. By 1860 census, they had moved to his father's home in Manchester, Dearborn Co., IN. In 1861, the family moved north to Kirklin, Clinton Co. IN PEH noted that they traveled by train as far as Lebanon, IN, where they obtained a cart and team of oxen to haul children and belongings. They traveled north from Lebanon for two days when the children became ill, and they were forced to stop for the night at the home of strangers....a William and Esther (Nicholson) Russell. The Haynes and Nicholson families would be linked later by the marriage of Esther's niece (Eva Gipson) and the then 10 year old George Haynes. What the children never forgot was Esther Nicholson Russell's flaming red hair.

Eldridge and Maria Bell settled in a log cabin not far from the Russells, in Kirklin, Clinton Co. IN where they are listed in the census 1870 and 1880. Eldridge himself was the census taker in 1880. Eldridge and Maria Bell are buried in Oakhill Cemetery on the north edge of Kirklin. Maria Bell's Bible contains the record of their children and descendants. It is now in the possession of Haynes Miller.

Helen Mary Wynekoop: Helen Mary Haynes was a very resourceful, independent and determined lady. She was dubbed "Helen Damnation" by the rest of the family, according to Grace Haynes Roeburg, a niece of Eldridge Haynes. (See Other Descendants of Henry Haynes section.) Helen Mary married her father's hired hand, much to her family's disappointment. The couple had ten children, which did not deter her from a career in journalism. With the money she earned, she managed to educate her four sons. (Three became physicians and one a lawyer.)

Lois Lindsay MD, wife of Frank E. Wynekoop, MD: Lois Lindsay is more interesting than her husband. She became a physician in a day when very few women could achieve this. Before her marriage to Frank Wynekoop, Lois attended classes wrapped in a shawl. She refused financial aid from her family, because they had disapproved of an earlier romance prior to her marriage to Frank Wynekoop. She contracted tuberculosis and went to Arizona to recuperate, bicycling long distances every day. When she was cured, she returned to Chicago, met and married Frank. She was highly respected as head of the Women's and Children's Hospital and founder of one of the best known adoption agencies in Chicago.

In 1936, her son William confessed to her that he was growing tired of his wife Marcia. While he was out of town on business, Lois invited Marcia to her sitting room for hot chocolate and a "heart to heart talk." Apparently, she slipped poison in the hot chocolate, and Marcia became ill. Lois took her to her examining room; and when Marcia began to struggle, Lois finished her off with a gun. I recall seeing newspapers with big black headlines and a little map showing with a dotted line how Lois jumped out of a first-story window after shooting Marcia and ran around the corner. Lois was tried, convicted and sent to the Women's Prison in Joliet, IL where it is said she ran the prison health facility and played bridge with the warden and his wife.

In retrospect, the family realized that Marcia may not have been Lois' first victim. Husband Frank had died suddenly under peculiar circumstances; and Lois had signed the death certificate. In 1933, their adopted daughter also died after drinking a cup of chocolate while chatting with Lois. Again, Lois had signed the death certificate .... Hence the old family saying: Beware of an invitation to hot chocolate and heart to heart! I presume Uncle Pierre's fairly complete outline of Helen Mary's family was due to her infamous daughter-in-law Lois Lindsay Wynekoop.

Dr. Gilbert Wynekoop, another son of Helen Mary and Frank Wynekoop, died in Maynard Hospital for the insane in Chicago.

Hermon D. Haynes: Hermon Haynes was too young to fight in the Civil War, but served as a fifer in Co. A 96th IN Infantry. He was taken prisoner by the Confederates. After the war, he returned home ill, probably with tuberculosis. He was engaged briefly to Elvira Ellis, who eventually married his uncle Hezron Haynes. (See Henry Haynes descendants.) Hermon died as a young man and is buried in the Kirklin (IN) Old Town Cemetery.

Mary Augusta Haynes Richey Quesada: When "Gusty" divorced Charley Richey, who was an alcoholic, she bought a hotel in Elwood, IN, installed Charley in one of the rooms, and there he lived for the rest of his life. She then married Mr. Quesada, who was handsome, wore expensive clothes and entertained extravagantly. So the story goes, she thought he had money; and he thought she had money, so each was somewhat disappointed in the union. Gusty went back the Charley two weeks before he died; and then returned to Quesada. According to Mother (Mary Belle Haynes Osborn), she had a parrot which greeted her every morning saying "Good Morning, Mrs. Richie."

At her death, she left all she had to Mr. Quesada, except a ranch which she left to her daughter Pearl. It turned out that the ranch was under the Gulf of Mexico. Cora Haynes, wife of Edgar Haynes, was quoted by Grace Roeberg as saying Gusty was "crazy but not dangerous."

Ruth McKey Annon, Gusty's granddaughter attended the funeral service of Park Haynes in 1975, at which time Jane and I met her. She subsequently sent us some family information, which confirmed Uncle Pierre's data.

Victor Augustus Haynes: Dora Gipson, Victor's wife, was the sister of Eva L. Gipson, wife of George Haynes, above. Aunt Dora visited in our home when I was very young. Later we had a visit from her daughter Lena and granddaughter Shirley Allison, who was a glamourous 3 years older than I. I thought she was wonderful! It was therefore a shock I have never forgotten to learn some years later that Shirley had taken her own life. I have been told that Lena was a very controlling person, who would hardly allow Shirley to draw a breath on her own. When her mother left on a trip, Shirley enjoyed a freedom she had never experienced before. She apparently could not face the prospect of her mother's return and shot herself while the family prepared to meet her mother's train.

Edgar Allen Poe Haynes and Cora Schwinn Haynes: Cora Schwinn's family were the founders of the Schwinn Bicycle Company. Her father was born in Germany and her mother in NC. Cora lived to be 93 years old, beloved by the entire family. She completed the Bible Records started by Maria Bell (Eldridge) Haynes.

Edgar was an eccentric with considerable ability and originality, succeeding early in life at several endeavors. He founded a highschool in Kirklin, IN, established a home for the aged in St Louis, MO where he was involved in a number of other philanthropic activities, including the Gideons. He was very successful in promoting Portland Cement for paving streets and highways all over the United States. He was eventually invited to introduce the product in England. Edgar's youngest son recalled a large, well-staffed house in London where his mother (Cora) baked pies at night after the servants had retired. Edgar met Arthur Conan Doyle and made large contributions to Doyle's spiritualism movement.

When the family returned to the United States, Edgar was retained by John Wanamaker to reorganize the Wanamaker store in Philadelphia where among other innovations, Edgar introduced music and religious programs for the edification of shoppers. He also helped found the Fiat Motor Company and several newspapers.

About 1906, he embarked upon a business venture which eventually involved at least one of his brothers — George--and possibly also brothers Victor and Carter, who were both in St. Louis in 1900. The undertaking failed, causing a major financial loss for all involved. Other failures followed; and then his marriage also failed. He became interested in a shadowy "other woman" named Mary and left Cora.

Mary Augusta Haynes Ridley Quesada: When
"Daisy" divorced Charley Ridley, who was an alcoholic, she bought a hotel in Elwood, IN, installed

Ruth Morley Annon: Daisy's granddaughter attended the funeral service of Pearl Haynes in 1975, at which time Jane and I met her. She subsequently sent us some family information, which continued Uncle Pierre's data.

A boy named Walter was the result of this liason.

By August 1922, Edgar was living in Great Falls, MN with Mary and Walter. In the journal he kept at the time, he recorded that he was deeply in debt. He was apparently involved in a collapsing investment scheme, and was using money paid him by investors for rent and groceries. The journal reveals him as a very confused and depressed person. He and Mary finally moved to Vancouver, BC to escape creditors, and he died there less than a year later.

Cora Schwinn Haynes, meantime, raised not only her own three children, but also the children of Edgar's brother Carter, after their mother died. I have the impression that Cora operated a shop offering items for children. According to Edgar's journal, Cora sent him money from time to time; and he recorded that she was "a saint." ... and truly she was!

Evan Haynes served in World War I in the 4th Div. 58th Infantry. He spent eight months in France and was wounded twice. Later he was a law professor at the University of California, Berkeley campus. I am in touch with Evan's son Duncan; and received from him the information concerning his children and grandchildren, as well as other members of the Haynes family. Duncan's wife Pat is really Pat Haynes Porter Haynes. Any connection with this branch of the Haynes family is not known.

Eldridge Haynes served as vice president of McGraw Hill; later he founded Modern Industry, Inc. and was sent in 1943 by the U.S. State Dept. to Britain to assess that country's wartime capacity. In 1954, he founded Business International Corp., a multinational publishing and service organization viewing the business world globally rather than nationalistically. With offices in major cities all over the world, the organization's client list included all of the world's largest corporations. An executive round table was established, which met periodically with world leaders, including the Russians long before the communist regime collapsed. It was a breakthrough in international affairs at the time.

Eldridge retired with his second wife Kathleen to the Virgin Islands in 1969. I corresponded with him before his death concerning family information; and have since been in touch with Elliot Haynes, Daphne Haynes Miller, Kathleen Verity Haynes Schorr and Haynes Miller, Daphne's son. All of these cousins supplied data concerning their families and their recollections of the family history. The descendants of Edgar are extremely intelligent and talented people. They are active in law, politics, community service and the arts. Kathleen Verity Haynes Schorr now has the flute which once belonged to Pierre Haynes (PEH), the source of most of this history.

Carter Hutchinson Smith Haynes is a mystery. He married Minnie Bade in 1891, had two children--Frieda and Carl. Minnie died in 1900; and Cora Haynes raised the two children. Carter was living in California in 1910 when his brother George died. (George E. Haynes' obituary.) After that time, nothing is known about him. Daphne Haynes Miller said that she had always heard that one of Eldridge Clark Haynes' sons died in a monastery in Colorado. It may be that Carter was that person.

Sources:: Mostly data from PEH (especially specific dates), some confirmed and expanded by census; land records; letters, charts, research by Grace Roeburg and Olive Olcott, supplied to me by Pat Fleeson, daughter of Grace. Pat also sent a copy of the Lawrenceburg Press March 1888 with eulogy to John Douglas Haynes.

Henry Haynes: PEH described Henry as "blue-eyed, rotund and loveable." The 1850 and 1860 census confirm that he was born in 1783. Henry and Abigail first appear in the census in Moreau, Saratoga Co. NY in the 1820 census. They moved west about 1833 with a group of 100 families, settling first in Millville, Butler Co. OH. In 1835, they moved to Union Co., IN where most of their married children settled. Manchester was described by a relative as "more name than city." It was located on the highway between Cincinnati and Indianapolis and is non-existent today.

In 1835 Henry purchased 80 acres of land from the Crawfordsville, IN land office. The land was located in what is now Boone Co. although it was unorganized government land at the time. It looks as though Eldridge and Maria Belle may have settled on this land much later. (1861)

Henry and Abigail were buried in old Methodist

Evangelical burial ground near Pleasant View.

According to PEH, Henry's father was probably Barney Haynes, a Tory who fled to Canada at the time of the Mohawk Indian raids about 1780. PEH reported in his notes that French Canadian records show a "Bernard Ains" married Elizabeth Frey. They returned to New York about 1782 when Henry was born. Shortly after Henry's birth, Barney died; and Elizabeth left infant Henry with relatives named Houghteling and returned to Canada. The Houghtelings raised Henry.

This sounds like family oral tradition. In the areas where the Eldridge family apparently located (Duchess and Ulster Cos. NY), there were also a number Houghteling and Haynes families (spellings varied). With such sketchy information, I saw no clear way to sort them out, or to confirm any of the information about Henry's parents..

For a summary of PEH's research of early Haynes and Frey families, see the end of these notes.

Mary Haynes Jordan: Data on this family was supplied not only from PEH and Grace Roeburg, but also from a letter written by Olive Olcott (b.1866; d. after 1940). Olive was the wife of Charles William Olcott, a grandson of Mary and William Jordan. Mary and William were buried at Wright's Corner, which was located on the road between Lawrenceburg and Aurora, IN. William was a merchant in Manchester.

John Douglas Haynes: Information on this line was from PEH, Grace Roeburg (a grand daughter of John Douglas) and her daughter Pat Fleeson, with whom I corresponded for a time. Their material included letters, research notes, charts and a full-page eulogy to John D. Haynes which appeared at the time of his death in the Lawrenceburg Press.

John Douglas was a lawyer. His wife's father was the leader of a group of 100 families who moved together from Saratoga Co. NY to OH and IN.
Catherine Haynes Collins: Catherine apparently stayed in NY when the rest of the family came to IN. Her husband was a Methodist minister. They are buried at Shrub Oaks ME Church in Westchester, NY.

Eldridge Clark Haynes (#4): See previous section.

John Henry Haynes: PEH said John Henry went to PA about 1851 where he "lumbered around" North Bend, PA and eventually owned a lot of land.

Sarah Haynes Bartram: PEH said Sarah lived from 1838-1847 in the home of her sister Elizabeth and Elizabeth's husband Rev. Charles Isham. In 1847 she married Levi Bartram in Newburgh, NY. The marriage was performed by Rev. Isham. Sarah and Levi are buried in Danbury, CT.

Elizabeth Caroline Haynes Isham: Elizabeth and Charles Isham lived in NY. Elizabeth died in Ulster Co. NY and is buried in Danbury, CT. Rev. Isham remarried and eventually became a bishop in the Methodist Church and moved to Trenton, MO.

Harriet Ann Haynes Conger: Harriet Ann is buried at Hogan Hill in Dearborn Co. IN.

Myron Haynes: Myron was Auditor of Dearborn Co. IN 1875-1879.

Hezron Haynes: Hezron's wife Elvira was originally engaged to Hezron's nephew Hermon Haynes, son of Eldridge and Maria Bell Haynes. Hermon died of tuberculosis contracted while serving as company fifer during the Civil War. Both Hezron and Elvira are buried in Holman, IN.

Miscellaneous Early Haynes' in NY: from PEH records. There is no proof that our Henry Haynes was related to any of the following early Hayneses. : Haynes was variously spelled Haines, Heens, Hainze, etc. (I think this information is worth passing on. There are pieces of it that hang together!)

1. Henri Hainze: b. 29 Apr 1683, Brussels, Belgium; m. Gretchen Heidelberg 27 Jan 1704; and had son Hendrick, possibly one of eleven children. PEH believed Gretchen may have been born in Zurich, Switzerland.

2. Henry Haynes m. Charlotte LeDezma, b. 20 Nov 1732, Ghent, Belgium.

3. Hendrick Heens of New Dorloo, NY 1753, married 2nd Elizabeth Rickard of Schenectady. She was deceased by 10 Mar 1760. Her first husband was Marcus Rickard, by whom she had a son John. Hendrick Heens owned a mill which was still standing in the 1920's when PEH saw it and took a picture of it, according to Olive Patterson's letter.

4. Henry Haynes lived in Montgomery Co. NY

Evangelical burial ground near Pleasant View.

According to PEH, Henry's father was probably Barney Haynes, a Tory who fled to Canada at the time of the Mohawk Indian raids about 1780. PEH reported in his notes that French Canadian records show a "Bernard Anis" married Elizabeth Frey.

They returned to New York about 1782 when Henry was born. Shortly after Henry's birth, Barney died; and Elizabeth left infant Henry with relatives named Houpbeling and returned to Canada. The Houpbelings raised Henry.

This sounds like family oral tradition. In the areas where the Eldridge family apparently located (Dutchess and Ulster Cos., NY), there were also a number Houpbeling and Haynes families (spelings varied). With such sketchy information, I saw no clear way to sort them out, or to confirm any of the information about Henry's parents.

For a summary of PEH's research of early Haynes and Frey families, see the end of these notes.

Mary Haynes Jordan: Data on this family was supplied not only from PEH and Grace Rosburg, but also from a letter written by Olive Olcott (b. 1886; d. after 1940). Olive was the wife of Charles William Olcott, a grandson of Mary and William Jordan. Mary and William were buried at Wright's Corner, which was located on the road between Lawrenceburg and Aurora, IN. William was a merchant in Manchester.

John Douglas Haynes: Information on this line was from PEH, Grace Rosburg (a grand daughter of John Douglas) and her daughter Pat Ricson, with whom I corresponded for a time. Their material included letters, research notes, charts and a full-page eulogy to John D. Haynes which appeared at the time of his death in the Lawrenceburg Press.

John Douglas was a lawyer. His wife's father was the leader of a group of 100 families who moved together from Saratoga Co. NY to OH and IN.

Catherine Haynes Collins: Catherine apparently stayed in NY when the rest of the family came to IN. Her husband was a Methodist minister. They are buried at Shiloh Oaks ME Church in Westchester, NY.

Eldridge Clark Haynes (#4): See previous section.

John Henry Haynes: PEH said John Henry went to PA about 1851 where he "lumbered around" North Bend, PA and eventually owned a lot of land.

Sarah Haynes Harman: PEH said Sarah lived from 1838-1847 in the home of her sister Elizabeth and Elizabeth's husband Rev. Charles Isham. In 1847 she married Levi Barton in Newburgh, NY. The marriage was performed by Rev. Isham. Sarah and Levi are buried in Danbury, CT.

Elizabeth Caroline Haynes Isham: Elizabeth and Charles Isham lived in NY. Elizabeth died in Ulster Co, NY and is buried in Danbury, CT. Rev. Isham remarried and eventually became a bishop in the Methodist Church and moved to Trenton, MO.

Harriet Ann Haynes Conger: Harriet Ann is buried at Hogan Hill in Dearborn Co. IN.

Myron Haynes: Myron was Auditor of Dearborn Co. IN 1875-1879.

Herron Haynes: Herron's wife Elvira was originally engaged to Herron's nephew Harmon Haynes, son of Eldridge and Maria Bell Haynes. Harmon died of tuberculosis contracted while serving as company tiller during the Civil War. Both Herron and Elvira are buried in Holman, IN.

Miscellaneous Early Haynes: in NY: from PEH records: There is no proof that our Henry Haynes was related to any of the following early Haynes: Haynes was variously spelled Haines, Hayns, Hainze, etc. (I think this information is worth passing on. There are pieces of it that hang together.)

1. Henri Hainze b. 29 Apr 1683, Brussels, Belgium; m. Gretchen Heidelberg 27 Jan 1704; and had son Hendrick, possibly one of eleven children. PEH believed Gretchen may have been born in Zurich, Switzerland.

2. Henry Haynes m. Charlotte LeDeccus, b. 20 Nov 1732, Ghent, Belgium.

3. Hendrick Heens of New Paltz, NY 1753, married 2nd Elizabeth Rickard of Schenectady. She was deceased by 10 Mar 1760. Her first husband was Marcus Rickard, by whom she had a son John Hendrick Heens owned a mill which was still standing in the 1920's when PEH saw it and took a picture of it, according to Olive Patterson's letter.

4. Henry Haynes lived in Montgomery Co. NY

1790 (census); married with children.

5. Henry Haynes located in NY had a brother Barney who went to Canada. I think this is the best clue we have to the identity of Barney "Ains". It is my impression that PEH thought it possible that this Henry and his brother Barney were son of Henry Haynes (#4) --or Hendrick Heens (#3)..

Frey (also Frye, Fret) from PEH records

-Elizabeth Frey, b. Canada; m. c. 1780 Bernard Ains.

V

-Phillip Rockel Frey (her father) m. Mary L. St. Martin: had Elizabeth, Henry (who married 1789 Elizabeth Howe and had 8 children, including a son Samuel C. End Notes

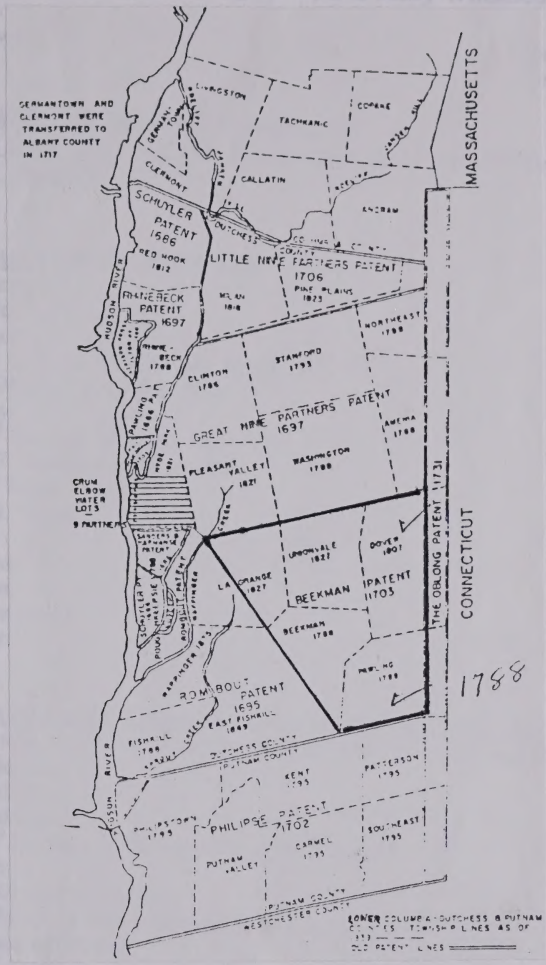
Sources: PEH, almost entirely; some dates in LDS files.

Clark Eldridge: PEH said Clark was born in Dover, Duchess Co. NY. The 1850 census confirms that he was born 1784 in NY. PEH described Clark as tall with dark hair and dark eyes. He and Chloe lived most of their married life in Ontario Co.; although their first four children were born in either Otsego Co.or Ulster Co. NY, according to PEH. It appears they had moved on to Ontario Co. NY by 1815, when their daughter Mary was born. (NY 1855 census.) The 1820-1850 censuses place them in Canandaigua, Ontario Co. NY. where Clark was a blacksmith, according to a Canandaigua history.

According to PEH, Clark died at Austin Ira's home while Chloe was helping Henrietta at the birth of her first child . PEH located Clark's grave in Oakwood Cemetery, Penfield, NY, and reported that the lot was poor--on low ground in a corner.

Susan Orinda Eldridge: PEH gives two dates of death for Susan, one as early as 16 Mar 1820. Since this line produced two or three sets of twins, it seems possible that Susan had a twin who did not survive.

Richard Wells Eldridge: Richard Wells was a mason by trade. He lived in Canandaigua and Penfield NY before moving to Monroe, MI. Later, before 1871, he moved to Chicago.



As of 1939.... Lower Columbia, Duchess and Putnam Cos. NY

Elisha Eldridge: main sources PEH; Census: 1810, 1820, 1830, 1850; statement for application for pension as Revolutionary War veteran; obituary and biography of daughter Nancy in an old Lansingburg NY Catholic Historical Society record; Frances C. Broderick, Lansingburg historian.

Elisha Eldridge - the facts we can be sure of: Elisha married Mary Wheadon 17 Feb. 1777, Branford. CT. (Branford Church Records, where his name is spelled "Aldrich", by Rev. Philemon Robbins, First Congregational Church of Branford. PEH says the couple was forced to elope, because her parents were Royalists and disapproved of Elisha's Revolutionary activities. Her mother sold land in Branford 1775, and and shortly after her family dropped out of Branford records. PEH says they went to Nova Scotia.

Elisha and Mary were living in CT until after the birth of son Wheadon in 1780. (Wheadon in 1850 NY census.) The family had moved on to New York, (probably Duchess Co.) by 1784 when son Clark was born.. (Clark in 1850 NY census; PEH says Clark born in Dover, Duchess Co. NY)

Elisha appears in New York - Ulster Co., Shendacken Twp. Census - 1810, 1820, 1830. Elisha is listed in Ulster Co. In the Revolution by Ruth Heigred, who says he was born in 1756 and was an Ulster Co., Republican. Sometime after 1830, he moved to Lansingburg, NY and lived with his unmarried daughter Nancy. (Nancy's biography in an old Lansingburg Catholic Historical Society record.)

He claimed to be 85 years old Nov.29, 1841, when he applied for a pension as a Revolutionary War veteran. His obituary and other records suggest he was aged 87.

He died 1 Dec 1841, and is buried in the Lansingburg Village Cemetery with at least 35 other Revolutionary War veterans, according to Frances D. Broderick, Lansingburg Historian.

His eulogy described him as a moral person, a true patriot and a vivid story teller of old war stories. (Troy Daily Whig 20 Dec 1841) Nancy's biography says her parents were members of the Dutch Reformed Church and were born in CT; unconfirmed in Elisha's case. (More on this later.)

Excerpts from his application for Revolutionary War pension: In 1785, he left Branford where he was living and went to Grafton, MA where he enlisted as a Minuteman under Captain Luke Duly in Col. Jonathan Ward's regiment. "As soon as the Elisha Eldridge - main source PEH; Census: 1810, 1820, 1830, 1850; statement for application for pension as Revolutionary War veteran; obituary and biography of daughter Nancy in an old Lansingburg NY Catholic Historical Society record; Frances C. Broderick, Lansingburg historian.

Elisha Eldridge - the facts we can be sure of:
Elisha married Mary Wheeden 17 Feb. 1777, Brimfield, CT. (Brimfield Church Records, where his name is spelled "Aldrich", by Rev. Philemon Robbins, First Congregational Church of Brimfield. PEH says the couple was forced to elope, because her parents were Royalists and disapproved of Elisha's Revolutionary activities. Her mother sold land in Brimfield 1775, and and shortly after her family dropped out of Brimfield records. PEH says they went to Nova Scotia.

Elisha and Mary were living in CT until after the birth of son Wheeden in 1780. (Wheeden in 1850 NY census.) The family had moved on to New York (probably Dutchess Co.) by 1784 when son Clark was born. (Clark in 1850 NY census; PEH says Clark born in Dover, Dutchess Co. NY)

Elisha appears in New York - Ulster Co., Shendaken Twp. Census - 1810, 1820, 1830. Elisha is listed in Ulster Co. in the Revolution by Ruth Hetzred, who says he was born in 1756 and was an Ulster Co., Republican. Sometime after 1830, he moved to Lansingburg, NY and lived with his unmarried daughter Nancy. (Nancy's biography in an old Lansingburg Catholic Historical Society record.)

He claimed to be 85 years old Nov 29, 1841, when he applied for a pension as a Revolutionary War veteran. His obituary and other records suggest he was aged 87.

He died 1 Dec 1841, and is buried in the Lansingburg Village Cemetery with at least 35 other Revolutionary War veterans, according to Frances D. Broderick, Lansingburg Historian.

His eulogy described him as a moral person, a true patriot and a vivid story teller of old war stories. (Troy Daily Whig 20 Dec 1841) Nancy's biography says her parents were members of the Dutch Reformed Church and were born in CT; unconfirmed in Elisha's case. (More on this later.)

Excerpts from his application for Revolutionary War pension: In 1783, he left Brimfield where he was living and went to Grafton, MA where he enlisted as a Minuteman under Captain Luke Daly in Col. Jonathan Ward's regiment. "As soon as the alarm of Lexington reached the town of Grafton, we immediately took the line of march and arrived in Lexington as the British commenced the retreat to Boston" When his enlistment expired (about 3 months), he reenlisted in the same company. They went to Cambridge (MA), and at the Battle of Bunker Hill, his regiment was situated on Prospect Hill. At the end of the second enlistment, he enlisted with Aaron Morse's Company of Minutemen and went to Roxbury where they built a fort and spent the winter. He was promoted to orderly sergeant.

"At the evacuation of Boston," he said, "our company was on Dorchester Heights and received the broadside of the British ships as they passed out of the harbor, several of our men being cut down.

"Soon after this engagement, my enlistment expired and upon being discharged, I went home to Branford. I again enlisted under Captain Sam Parker in Col. Russell's regiment at Branford"...served only a short part of this enlistment, obtaining a substitute Asha Bull, when I was discharged."

Signed H.V.W. Masten Justice of the Justices Court, City of Troy, NY. Attested by William Hazen, Clerk of the Court. (Seal).

An affidavit of Alfred Seaman accompanied the claim says he was Captain of a Company of State Militia at Lansingburg, NY in 1841 and buried the said Elisha Eldridge with "full military honors" as a Revolutionary Soldier. ...Unfortunately, at this writing, the National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution will no longer accept Elisha Eldridge as a bona fide veteran of the Revolution, because no proof has been found that he actually served a total of 6 months.

Wheadon Eldridge lived in Sweden and Byron (Genesee Co.), NY and was the owner of a saw and grist mill. The 1850 census confirms Wheadon's birth year and his birthplace as CT. NSDAR records confirm much of the Wheadon Eldridge data. Susanna Montross, Wheadon's wife, was the daughter of Jacob Montross, a licensed innkeeper in Shendaken, NY 1805.

John Eldridge's birth year has to be wrong, because it is too close to Clark Eldridge's birth date, and Clark's is confirmed by the 1850 census. Since there are 4 year gaps between Wheadon and Clark; and also between Clark and Polly, I presume he was born in one of those periods. I followed PEH's listing of Elisha's children with John in order ahead of Clark; although I think he was probably born 1786 because he was 24 or younger in the 1810 census, living next door to Elisha Eldridge, Ulster Co. Shendaken Twp.. His wife, Anna Quinlon was the sister of John Quinlon who married John Eldridge's younger sister Elizabeth.

Nancy Eldridge claimed in the 1855 NY census to have been born in Duchess county. NY. As a young woman, she converted to Catholicism, and later fell in love with a Protestant gentleman. Because of this religious difference, the couple never married, although they remained friends and stayed in touch with one another for many years. Her biography appears in an old Catholic Historical Society record. Nancy is buried in the same Village Cemetery where Elisha is buried.

Elizabeth Eldridge was living with her daughter Sarah Quinlon Smith in 1880. In the 1880 census, it was recorded that both of her parents were born in CT. It was also recorded that she was born in Green Co. NY. (I have read that Lexington in present day Green Co. was called Woodstock at one time. PEH names Woodstock in his records with reference to Elisha and family.) Elizabeth is buried in Old Fallsburg Cemetery, Sullivan Co., NY.

Elisha Eldridge's Elusive Past: Sources: CT Vital Records ; Frank J. Doherty of Pleasant Valley NY: Early Settlers of the Beekman Patent and notes on Records of the Merritt and Duncan Stores of Beekman Patent; NY census and Vital Records.

In spite the fact that it appears many people have believed that Elisha was born in CT, no proof has been found to back this up. In addition, the year of his birth is unclear.

PEH said our Elisha was born Aug.21, 1756 in either New Haven CT or Mansfield CT. There is no proof of this in CT records. PEH has been right about a good many things; and it may be some old family record, now lost, is the source of his information.

However, and I am judging by his notes, I do not think he himself was totally convinced of this date.

CT Vital records disclose a number of Elisha\Elijah\Eli Eldridge\Eldredge\Eldred's; but close examination reveals the names of their spouses and children; and none of them is our Elisha.

In spite of the fact that Elisha referred to Branford as "home" (approximately 1774-1775) in his application for a pension as a Revolutionary War veteran, there is no record that any Eldridges resided in Branford before or during the American Revolution.

The records supplied by PEH give us the exact birth dates for most of children of Elisha; and in the case of Clark Eldridge, the place of birth--Dover, Duchess Co.NY.

Duchess Co. was originally part of the Beekman Patent, a strip of land on the border between NY and CT. At the time of my research, Mr. F.H Doherty had published Early Settlers of Beekman Patent and was working (1991) on a book showing Merritt and Dunkin Store Records. The Dunkin store was located in Dover, NY. Dover was near Poughkeepsie, and is located in the Pawling Precinct. This is the place where PEH says Clark was born. There is an Elisha Eldridge in the Duncan store records.

For the first time, I found the name Clark involved with an Elisha Eldridge more than once; and became certain that the Beekman Patent Eldridges are of the family of our Elisha Eldridge who married Mary Wheadon.

Here are some of the facts which led me to this conclusion ...

Elisha Eldridge enlisted as a Minuteman 3 Aug 1776, age 24, born in RI, a shoemaker and a volunteer. He was 5 feet 10 inches with a pale complexion, light eyes and hair. (3rd Reg. Capt. Pearse.)- Early Settlers of Beekman Patent. Elisha appears also in records of Merritt and Duncan stores. (Re: F.H. Doherty.)

[Jonathan Eldridge enlisted 1 Aug. 1776, age 26. He was born CT, a farmer and volunteer. He was 5 feet 7 inches with a fresh complexion, light eyes and curled hair. (3rd Reg. Capt. Pearse) A Jonathan Eldridge was born 17 Nov 1752 at New London, CT to Charles and Mary (Starr) Eldridge.--IGI. He married Mary Champlin 1773 and had children there. (Re: F.H. Doherty). I believe he moved on to Vermont.]

An Elisha Eldridge took over a lease on a 150 acre farm in lot 10 1775-76. He sold part to William CLARK May 1783.

Other names which appear in connection with Elisha are Clark Eldridge and Casey Eldridge. Casey Eldridge had a son Clark; and Elisha had a son John according to F.H. Doherty's transcriptions of Beekman Patent records, including the Merritt and Dunkin stores.

In addition, a Samuel Eldridge m. Susannah Casey c. 1738-40; Samuel b. c. 1710 N. Kingston, RI; they had 7 children (sons?) between 1740-1763. -F.J. Doherty cites RIGR 11:283, 286

John Eldred and Mary had a son Samuel b. 1710 at Washington, N. Kingston RI. (LDS IGI)

What was available at the time I researched this line was not sufficient to make any clear judgments; but in a general kind of way, it looks as though these RI Eldridges are our people.

Other sources which proved who our Elisha was NOT: History of Tolland Co. CT, p. 988; CT Genealogical Chapter Record NSDAR, 1936, by Annie Bailey, pp.44-45; Eldridge Family by S.R. Cole, and various other Eldredge Genealogies; and CT and NY Vital Records.

Our Branford, Connecticut Roots

Branford occupied land once known as "Totoket" ('land of Tidal River'), which was ruled by Montowese, a son of the Sachem Soubeog. He ruled ten warriors and their families. The price the early settlers gave Montowese for the land was eleven coats of trucking cloth and one coat of English cloth. (1638) In 1644, the New Haven Colony granted Totoket to Daniel Swayne and others.

It is exciting to realize that Daniel Swayne, William Hoadley, Robert Rose, John Linley and George Page--early settlers in Branford, most of whom are listed as planters in Branford in 1676, are all ancestors of Mary Belle Haynes and/or Frank Osborn and you who descend from one or the other of them. .

Daniel Swayne (48) was the grandfather of Eunice (#32) who married Thomas Whedon III (#31).

William Hoadley (#54 on Chart 2) was great grand-father of Mary Page.

Robert Rose was born in England. He was the father of Dorcas Rose (#49, chart 2) who married Daniel Swaine (#48, chart 2 and above).)

John Linley was the father of Sarah Linley, George Page's wife. Frank Osborn's grandmother was Sarah Linley — also a descendant of John Linley.

Samuel Pond, another early settler of Branford, was not an ancestor, but was the first husband of Hannah Griffin, who married 2nd John Linley (II), Sarah's brother. Hannah Griffin and John Linley II were the Linley ancestors of Frank Osborn's grandmother. (See John Linley section)

Note: Hannah Page, another daughter of George Page (above), married Ebenezer Frisbie, who married 2nd after Hannah's death Joanna Baldwin, daughter of Samuel Baldwin (also an ancestor of Frank V. Osborn, my father.) Joanna Baldwin's first husband was Samuel Rose, related in some way to Dorcas Rose (#49)

Thomas (IV) The "IV" is my designation to keep the many Thos. Whedons sorted out.

I cannot say too often that my original information came from Uncle Pierre (PEH). My research mostly confirmed his findings. The only time he erred was in the matter of which Mary was the mother of Mary who married Elisha Eldridge--Mary Heath or Mary Page. A genealogist, Betty Linsley of CT, cleared this up through land records. A careful examination of CT vital records and Branford land records confirm that Thomas (IV) married Mary Page, and they were the parents of Mary who married Elisha Eldridge. Mary Heath was the third wife of Thomas Whedon (III)--see the next section.

Branford Land Records
- 30 Oct 1754: Daniel and Hannah Page distributed their property to their children. Among the latter is "Mary, wife of Thomas Whedon." 7:480

- 20 Jul 1757: Thomas Whedon and Mary Whedon, his wife, of Branford [after the death of Thomas Whedon (III)], for the sum of ten pounds, ten shillings received of John Monro sell "land...which our Hond. Father Danl. Page gave to ye said Mary Whedon..." 9:91

-21 April 1775: Mary Whedon of Branford, for the sum of three pounds, thirteen shillings received of Ithiel Russell "thirteen acres...descending to me from my Hond. Mother Hannah Page, dec..." 10:16

PEH says that Thomas (IV) and Mary (Page) Whedon were loyalists, and disapproved of their daughter's marriage to Elisha Eldridge, causing the couple to elope. He says the Sr. Whedons left for Nova Scotia at the time of the Revolution. This notion is supported by the fact that the last Branford record of them is the land record cited above, when Mary Page Whedon sold land inherited from her mother.

Mary Whedon Eldridge: PEH somehow knew where she was buried, which leads me to believe that her date of death (1824) is fairly accurate. He reported (in the 1920's) that all the stones where she was buried were over in one corner of a field, and were unreadable. I can't help but feel that there was some written record of this family available to PEH which we no longer have.

THOMAS WHEDON I (or Wheadon) was born in England. He had apparently been bound in England to John Meigs to learn the art of tanning; and came to New England about 1643 with John Meigs. He took the oath of fidelity in 1657, moved soon after to Branford where records show he was a proprietor in 1667. He married Ann (Small?) Harvey, Branford 24 May 1661. Donald L. Jacobus in his Families of Ancient New Haven states (p. 722) "HARVEY, Francis, a Frenchman, desired to marry Ann SMALL, servant of Mr. Yale in Jan 1660, but the court approved not." On page 1966, Jacobus gives Thomas WHEDON's wife as "Ann HARVEY."

Pierre Haynes says that Thomas arrived in New England 1653 and completed his apprenticeship to John Meigs 15 May 1658 when he was released by a court. In Branford, Thomas was fined 20 shillings for posting a false marriage notice and slander; and was required to make public acknowledgment 6 Aug 1661. He was fined again Dec 1665 for slander 40 shillings and 15 shillings.

Sources: George Page of Branford CT and Some of His Descendants with Allied Lines - compiled by Edith (Moyer) Page, pub. 1977--a well documented history of the Pages, including Linsleys, Hoadleys and others. The birth and marriage dates of this line are all in the Branford vital records.

Daniel Page was just six years old when his father died. He lived in North Branford; was a representative of the town, a deacon of the Congregational Church, selectman and juryman. His home was at Sibbies Hill, North Branford--a name which came from an Indian Sachem who once lived there. His will names his then living sons--Abraham, Ephraim and Daniel; also his daughters.

His will was witnessed by Israel Baldwin, Aaron Baldwin and Samuel Baldwin II. Samuel Baldwin was the grandfather of Sarah Baldwin who married Brainard Osborn--and were the great grand parents of Frank Osborn. This by way of saying that if the ancestors of Mary Belle Haynes and Frank Osborn not only intermarried, but were often close associates.

The will of Hannah Johnson Page named all of their children, including " daughter Mary now ye Wife of Thomas Whedon of Branford." (Her family follows.)

Prudence Page was the wife of Isaac Whedon, son of John Whedon who married Mary Frost. (See family of Thomas Whedon I - #44). They are not direct ancestors, but are another connection between the Whedons and Pages.

John Linley is a triple ancestor. Both Mary Bell Haynes and Frank V. Osborn are descended from him through Sarah (#41) and George Page (#40) (see pp 35-36); and Frank is also descended through John II and his wife Hannah Griffin as follows:

John Linley II + Hannah Griffin Pond
(1648-1684) (1649-1727)
Jonathan Linsly + Dorcas Phippen
(1675-1725) (1678-1760)

George Osborn + Margaret Vernon
(1865-1948) (1873-1946)
Frank V. Osborn + Mary Bell Haynes
(1898-1970) - (1896-1952)

The above is outlined in the Linsley genealogies; documented in the more recent generations by the census 1850 and after, as well as NY, OH and IN records.

The following are highlights from the sources listed above:

John Linley's British Roots: From British records, it appears that our John Linley is the same as John Linley who was baptized 9 Apr 1620, Althorpe, Lincolnshire, England, the son of John Sr. and Elizabeth (Messenger) Linsey. Then Elizabeth died, and John Sr. remarried Ann. By her, he had other children including a son Francis, b. c. 1626. John Sr. died c.1638.

Circumstantial evidence seems to show that our John arrived on the second ship which came into New Haven on 15 Jul 1639 (from Colony of New Haven by Atwater.) John took the oath of fidelity at New Haven, 1 Jul 1644. By December of that year Francis, his brother had also arrived and was involved in a court trial, because he allegedly sold a defective "olde gunne" to a man who was badly injured when the "brich flew out and struck into his eye and wounded him deepe and dangerously into the head." It was claimed the the "barrell was thinne...and crackt."

That court record mentions that John and Francis were brothers; that Francis was living in "John's howse;" which seems to indicate that John was older and probably married; and that they were living in New Haven.

In 1646 they both drew land in Branford and settled there later; but John was in Guilford, CT for six years 1648-54, and spent the rest of his life in Branford.

His children Sarah and John were born either in New Haven or Guilford. According to Guilford records, daughter Mary was born to "John and Ellen Linsley" which is the first mention of the name of his wife.

John was defendant in a law suit in Guilford Feb.-March 1654 in which he was charged with "slandering her (his neighbor's wife) with lyeing basely" and claiming that "she had mischieved his Dogg and they who would doe it to his Dogg would doe it to himselfe." He was fined 5 pounds.

Citing Steiner's History of Guilford, the author of one genealogy states that "these church trials caused Guilford much trouble and many planters caught in them left the Colony and went elsewhere." John appears to have been one who chose to leave as his land was for sale within a week after the end of the trial.

On April 1, 1654, Hannah, "daughter of John and Ellen Linley" was born and recorded on the same page 6 Apr. 1654, "Ellin, wife of John Linley was buried." It is presumed that he removed to Branford with his four young children and there on Jul 1655 he m. Sarah Pond

Sarah Pond was a widow with 4 small children of her own when she married John Linley: (1) Isaac, b. 16 Mar 1656 (who m. Hannah Griffin. Following Isaac's death, Hannah married 2nd John Linley II (1667 Windsor) ancestors of Frank Osborn); (2) Samuel, b. 4 Mar 1648; m. Miriam Blatchley, 1670 Branford; (3) Nathaniel, b. 21 Sep 1650; killed in Narragansett fight 1675; (4) Sarah Pond, b. 16 Feb 1652-3, m. Jonathan Hoyt, who settled in Guilford 1671.

Ellen, John's first wife: An article in the New England Historical and Genealogical Register by Retta Perry of Lawrenceville, PA suggests that Ellen was Ellen Dayton.

Ellen, daughter of Ralph and Alice (Goldhatch) Dayton was baptized in Ashford, Co. Kent, England on 3 Dec 1626. Ralph Dayton lived in New Haven from 1639-1649 when he moved to East Hampton, Long Island, NY

In Ralph Dayton's will, among other bequests, he leaves to "my sonne Linly's children...."

John Linley was very active in early Branford affairs as the records show. He acted as surveyor; served on a committee to find a new pastor for the church; and helped to build a dam "att ye Brooke yt comes out of ye dead swompe."

There is no hard evidence about the identity of John and Ellen (Dayton) Linley; but the circumstantial evidence is significant.

Captain Isaac Johnson (#56) came to New England with his father. He became a freeman 4 Mar 1635. He was appointed Captain of the Roxbury militia company 1653; and was a Deputy to the General Court 1671. He became a member of the Ancient and Honourable Artillery Company in 1645 and was its Lieutenant in 1666, Captain in 1667. He was killed in the Great Swamp (Narragansett) Fight during an attack on an Indian fort, which eventually succeeded. This was an important battle in King Philip's War. King Philip was the name English settlers gave Metacomet, chief of Wampanoag Indians. Philip was the son of Massosoit, a friend of the colonists. Philip came to believe that the settlers would cause the destruction of the Indians; and he led an uprising 1676-77. Other ancestors of Mary Bell Haynes and Frank Osborn also died in King Philip's War.

The only thing known about Elizabeth Porter (#57) is that she had a brother Edward. "Brother Edward Porter" was named Overseer of Isaac's Will.

William Hoadley (#54) (who wrote his name Hoadle) was a Branford town representative from 1678 for several terms. He left a sizeable estate. His name is mentioned regularly in various town records as working with members of the other Branford families from whom both Mary Bell Haynes and Frank Osborn are descended.

Judging from various deeds, he owned land adjacent to parcels held by the Wheadons, Johnsons, Linleys as well as Sutliffes, Roses and Swaines.

WILLIAM SWAINE (#60) came to Watertown, MA in the Elizabeth and Ann from London 1635 at age 50. He was appointed with others a commissioner of a new settlement in CT which came to be called Wethersfield. He represented the settlement in the provincial assembly 1641-43. He later removed with sons Daniel and Samuel to the Branford area. The Linsley and Page Genealogies cited say that in 1644, William Swaine and others were granted rights to an area known as Totoket. These settlers left Wethersfield because of divisions in the church. (See John Linsley and George Page End Notes) The name was spelled Swain, Swayne or Swaine in various records.

P.E. Haynes, citing "Colony of New Haven" by Atwater, pp.596-610, says that two of William's daughters were captured by Indians. The time and place are not known, nor the fate of the girls.

Samuel Swaine was among the original settlers of Newark, NJ 1667 and was a representative in the first assembly of that province. In some records his name is spelled "Swarne."

Robert Rose and family came to New England 1634 on the "Francis" from Ipswich, England. Robert's wife Margery is known from the ship's list. The first eight children are also listed along with their ages at that time. It is thought that Robert Rose probably went first to Watertown, MA, removing to Wethersfield, CT in 1635 where he was listed among the first settlers. Records show he was on a committee to view lands for settlement in 1639. He was a constable in Wethersfield 1639. He was apparently one of the largest land owners in Wethersfield, and served as fence viewer, tax collector and appraiser; committeeman and in many other ways in town affairs. Some records give his name as Robert Rosse.

In 1644 Robert Rose moved with William Swaine and others to Branford as the result of a controversy in the Wethersfield church. There was a tradition that he owned ten cows and sixty horses; also that the Sunday milking was always given to the poor. The Bible he brought with him from England was printed in 1599; and was kept in the Rose family for three to four generations.

Robert Rose was involved in an amusing episode in 1653, when Mr. Robins of Wethersfield accused a Thomas Blachley of taking a bull without permission, and Mr. Robins wanted compensation. It seemed that Mr. Swaine (probably Daniel) of Branford wrote to Mr. Robins desiring to hire a bull for the "Towne to goe with their cowes."

A bargain was struck when Robert Rose agreed (on behalf of the town) to rent the bull for 20 shillings and also pasture one of Mr. Robins' steers for the summer. For one reason and another, the trial concerning this matter was strung out for three months before it came to light that the bull was dead. Evidence in subsequent court hearings revealed that the bull had become stuck in a salt pond and died there. Some of the evidence for this was presented by Thomas Blatchley, against whom the original complaint had been made, which meant he was testifying against himself. However, no one objected, and his testimony was allowed to stand.

Evidence further showed that early in the season, the bull had been fine with the dry cattle; and since it was not a "time for swamping" they had not thought the bull would fall into a mudhole. Mr. Robins lawyer demanded to know why the bull was with dry cattle; and the town's witness pointed out that the agreement did not limit the bull to any specific place or "heard." The court finally declared that the town had not neglected the bull; and pointed out that the original action was only for recovery of the fee for hiring the bull and summering the steer. The town of Branford was ordered to pay Mr. Robins 20 shillings for the bull; 10 shillings for not summering the steer and a small amount in court fees. The Branford folk agreed to pay in order to avoid further trouble.

Robert Rose married (2nd) Elizabeth -- Potter Parker 1664. They were married just a few months before Robert died. Elizabeth died 28 Jul 1677. She married (1) John Potter; and (2) Edward Parker and had children by both

The Robert Rose Genealogy contains much interesting historical information, referencing many other sources. Wethersfield is the oldest town in CT. Its Indian name was Pyquag. Most of the earliest settlers came from Watertown, MA. The recollections of a Rev. Henry Smith are quoted concerning the settlement of Wethersfield: "Ye firste Meeting House was solid mayde to withstande ye wicket onsaluts of ye Red Skins. Its Foundations was laide in ye feare of ye Lord, but its Walls was truly laide in ye feare of ye Indians for many and grate was ye Terrors of em. I do minde me yt alle ye able-bodyed Men did work thereat & ye olde & feeble did watch in turns to espie if any Salvages was in hidinge neare & every Man keept his Musket nighe to his hande...Several Families wch did live back a ways from ye River was either Murderdt or Captivated in my Boyhood & we all did live in constant feare..."

A plaque in Wethersfield marks the home site of Robert Rose..."One of the Adventurers 1634 Born in England 1594 Died in Branford, Conn. 1663". The Will of Robert Rose was dated 25 Aug 1664; was probated 4 Apr 1665. He left a sizeable estate valued at L826.

Nathaniel Sutliffe left Scituate early in life and went to Dedham in 1660 where he acquired property, paying his county rate 10 Jul 1661. He removed to Medfield in 1663 where one record shows that he and John Bullard sawed 450 feet of lumber to be used to enlarge the town meeting house. The work was done by hand "at a saw pit." His neighbor was his father-in-law and good friend Serg. John Plympton One Sutliffe genealogy claims that the Sutliffe and Plympton families were good friends in England.

While Nathaniel Sutliffe and John Plympton were living in Medfield (1665), they were among 70 persons who subscribed to a fund for the purpose of building what was to become Harvard University.

In 1671, Nathaniel and his father-in law-John Plympton moved to Deerfield (Pocumtuck) where records show that Nathaniel bought rights to pasture six cows and one sheep on the town commons. He took part in King Philip's War and was under Lathrop at Bloody Brook Bridge. In addition on 19 May 1676, he served as a soldier under Captain Turner at the battle of Turner Falls (Pesheomsaket Falls) when he was killed.

Captain Turner's company had defeated and routed the Indians at the Falls and were following them closely as the Indians retreated. Their Indian prisoners reported that a large number of fresh Indians were coming to the assistance of the beaten ones; and as a result, the colonists panicked and scattered in full retreat. The Indians renewed the attack and because they were in disorganized small groups, they were easily over-taken and killed. Nathaniel Sutliffe was one of those overtaken, killed and buried in the woods.

His widow Hannah remarried Samuel Harrington c.1668, and they lived in Hatfield briefly before moving on to Branford where she died c.1691-93. Hannah and Samuel Harrington had two children: Samuel, b. c.1680; and Mehitable, b. 3 Oct 1681 in Branford. (Branford Vital Records, I:211)

A grant of land was made by Deerfield to the children of Nathaniel Sutliffe for his services in the Indian war. Nathaniel Sutliffe Jr. and John Sutliffe, sons of Nathaniel Sr. and Hannah, were raised by Sutliffe relatives in Rehoboth, MA, moving finally to CT where they were founders of Durham, CT (Cochinhuag). Daughter Hannah went on to Branford with her mother and step-father.

As areas of New England opened up for settlement, they were called by their Indian names. Later, the settlers would choose an English name. Sometimes the records are confusing because of the use of the Indian place names. Branford was originally called Totoket

There is in Deerfield a tablet in Memorial Hall to the memory of Nathaniel Sutcliffe Bear in mind, the Sutliffes are double ancestors, as both Mary Belle Haynes and Frank Osborn descend from Lt. Thomas Whedon (#36) and Hannah Sutliffe (#37).(see pp. 35- 36)

Abraham Sutliffe (#65) and family migrated to Plymouth, MA 1623. By 1640, he was living in Scituate and had received two tracts of land, which he sold Thomas Ingham and John Stockbridge. His house was "north of Stockbridge's and was still living in 1659 when "Abraham Sutliffe and Sarah his wife were ordered to make retraction for defaming John Sutton, in saying he was basely born."

One genealogy says Abraham Sr. was the son of John Sutcliffe Jr and Miss Kirten, a daughter of John Kirton, Esq. He and his brother Matthew were being educated in 1550. He became the Groom of The Bedchamber of King Charles I.

John Plympton (#64) is another double ancestor for descendants of Mary Bell Haynes and Frank V. Osoborn. John Plympton came to New England as the indentured servant of Dr. George Alcocke, apparently to pay his passage from England. He was named in Dr. Alcocke's will in Roxbury MA 22 Jan 1641, which provided for John to buy the remaining time of his indenture for 5 pounds.

One genealogy says that John bought two acres of woodland at Dedham MA 20 Mar 1642. He was received in the Dedham Church 20 Jan 1643, which implies a one year's residency. He took the oath as a freeman 10 May 1643 as John "Plunton." The same year, he joined the Incorporated Artillery Company at Boston, an organization which entitles descendants to membership in The Ancient and Honorary Artillery Company. His name is 17th on the enlistment for that year in a history of the organization.

He married Jane Dammin (#65) 13 Mar 1644. Spellings of her name vary. She came to New England with her mother Abigail and her stepfather John Eaton in 1635 on the ship Elizabeth & Ann. Abigail's age at that time was 35; and Jane's was 9 years. John Dammin, brother of Jane, and two young Eaton children completed the party. At his death, John Eaton left 5 pounds to John Plympton of Medfield in his Will dated 9 Feb 1658. Jane was received in the Dedham church 4 Dec 1640

Jane and John Plympton's first five children are listed in Dedham church records. They moved to Medfield, MA sometime in 1652 where he appears on a tax list and attended a town meeting December of that year. The Plympton's other eight children are listed in Savage and other genealogies. At least five of them died very young.

The family lived in Medfield from 1652 until c. 1671. Medfield records show that he was given permission to cut down trees along the brook to use in building his home. Nathaniel Sutliffe entered the lives of the Plymptons in Medfield about 1661. Both Nathaniel Sutliffe and John Plympton are on a list of those who contributed to a fund to establish a college. ("John Plympton Senior...2 bushells of Endian Corn") The new college was later called Harvard. John Plympton was one of two surveyors and a "fence viewer" (a person who settles property line disputes) in Medfield. One genealogy says he was a tailor in Medfield.

In 1671 John Plympton was permitted to buy land in Pocomtuck, provided he would "settle there in his own person." Nathaniel Sutliffe, by then the husband of John's daughter Hannah, also purchased land in the area. Both signed a petition in 1672 to change the name of the town to Deerfield. Because trouble with Indians threatened the area, John Plympton was appointed sergeant and was apparently the chief military officer in charge of defense of the village. It was well defended with two stockades,

The war with the Indians 1675-76 was known as King Philip's War. (See Isaac Johnson and Nathaniel Sutliffe) King Philip was the English name given to Metacomet, chief of the Wampanoag Indians and son of Massosoit. He resented the presence of the growing number of settlers who were displacing the Indians.

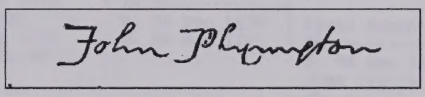
In September 1675, the Indians attacked and burned part of Deerfield; and Jonathan Plympton, son of John and Jane, was killed along with others in a massacre at Bloody Brook Bridge, where Indians ambushed 18 oxcarts laden with newly harvested wheat which they were attempting to save from the Indians by sending it to the nearby village of Hadley. (One family lost the father and three sons in that battle.) Deerfield was abandoned and the inhabitants moved to Hatfield and other villages for safety.

On May 19 1676, Nathaniel Sutliffe, Hannah Plympton's husband was killed with Captain Turner at the Pesheomsaket Falls. Later in the same year, King Philip was hunted down and killed. As a result, the war with the Indians was thought to be over, although some continued to attack and burn for sometime after that.

In early summer 1677, John Plympton and two others returned to Deerfield and started rebuilding and planting crops. In mid-September, Indians reappeared and captured the little group. They joined another larger group of English captives, friends and neighbors of Hatfield--the total group numbering 20. (3 men, 3 women, 14 little children) One of the men later wrote an account of their ordeal as they were marched to Canada, cold, hungry and frightened. At a point near Chambley, it is said that John Plympton was burned at the stake. One woman and one little girl also died along the way. The others were ransomed and returned home safely the following spring.

Jane remarried Nicholas Hide in 1679. Daughter Hannah remarried Samuel Harrington in 1677.

Levi B. Chase's Genealogy and Historical Notes of the Plimpton/Plympton Family in America gives a long, fairly well documented, colorful account of John Plympton's life and adventures, pp. 28-56



Signature of John Plympton Nov. 7, 1673 - Deerfield - "a meeting appointed by the committee for the plantation of Pocomtuck, of the inhabitants proprietors of the lands there."

Pierre Haynes' data above was almost totally confirmed and supplemented by the Vital Records, etc. listed above. A major exception are the last four children of Peter and Mehitable who are named by P. Haynes alone. Records in Charlton, where the census proves the family was living 1790-1800 do not list Dolly, Perley, Chloe and John; although--oddly--the children of Peter Jenison Jr. are in the Charlton records. It is important to notice that Dolly, Perley, Chloe and John are not the children of Peter, Jr. They are also not the children of Peter Sr.'s brother Daniel and his wife Molly (Punam) — see the next section.

As I have said elsewhere, PEH was so accurate in his research that I have no doubt that these last four were actually children of Peter and Mehitable; and I presume he (PEH) had access to family records, which included (among other things) an exact date for Dolly's birth, as well as the names of their last four children. Since no records came to light to prove otherwise, I have chosen to leave them in the order listed by PEH as children of Peter Sr. and Mehitable.

12 Jan 1795, Worcester Co. CT - Peter Jenison of Charlton, yeoman, for L90 sold to Ebenezer Davis of Charlton, yeoman, 5 acres in Charlton with buildings thereon; and he and Mehitable signed; witnesses: Rufus Jenison, Twist Jenison. (124:196)

8 May 1799, Peter, of Charlton, alone signed a deed. Witnesses: Pamela Davis, Betsy Davis (135:533)

8 Mar 1801, Peter Jenison of Charlton sold land and buildings thereon to Evenezer Davis, signed by Peter and Hehitable. (142:504)

12 Dec 1801, Peter of Charloton sold, for $1250, land and buildings in Charlton to Adnrew Sigerney of Oxford; signed Peter and Mehitable Jenison; witnesses: Silvanus Town, Ebenezer Davis. Anna Jackson. (146 :101)

27 Nov 1801 - Peter Jenison Jr. (so called) sold land with wife Elizabeth. (146:226)

When people in those days sold their land and houses/buildings thereon, that very often was a sign of their moving one. Peter probably moved on to Ontario Co. Or Wyoming Co. NY with Peter Jr, c.1802.

The 1850 census confirms that Chloe was born 1792 in CT. (NSDAR record #487314 also lists Chloe as a child of Peter and Mehitable.)

PEH says that Peter Jenison lived in later life and died in New Berlin, NY. Confirmation is sketchy.
Daughter Anna was married 1 Jan 1804 in New Berlin, Ontario Co.. NY. (NY Vital Records compiled by LDS). The index to burial places in Ontario Co. says Peter "probably" died in Ontario County.

Peter Jenison was a minute man at the Lexington alarm in the regiment of Captain John Crowl.

His brother Daniel was also a minute man. (See section on Joseph Jenison)

PEH says Chloe Jenison Eldridge was an Episcopalian. She visited her daughter Maria Belle Eldridge Haynes for 1 year in Lorain Co. OH about 1850-1851. After Clark Eldridge died, she lived with their son Austin Ira until his wife Marcia died, at which time she went to live with her daughter Henrietta in Wyoming Co. NY

Mehitable Singletary Jenison (#21) died (according to PEH) as a result of a house fire, which she started one cold December night with kindling wood stacked in the cellar for use in an old fashioned baking oven built into the chimney. She built the fire in the middle of the cellar floor and fell into it. This report comes from PEH alone, and I presume it occurred in either Duchess Co. or Ontario Co. NY

There is no explanation for the fact that Peter and Mehitable's wedding date is almost the same as the date of their first child's birth.

Peter Jr. posted intentions to marry "Mrs. Elizabeth Snow" 1 Jan 1790. "Mrs." was used for unmarried girls in the early years of settlement of this country, but does not seem to be true as late as 1790. It is possible that Elizabeth was a young widow.

End Notes

Sources: PEH; Benedict and Tracy 1878 - History of the Town of Sutton (1704-1876) and the various genealogies cited under Peter Jennison, all give the same information concerning Peter's parents.

It was important to note that --in identifying Chloe— she was not the daughter of Peter's brother Daniel.

The Sutton vital records identify Peter as the "son of Joseph and Martha Twist of Salem ."

NSDAR #278906 supplied the names of Daniel's children.

Sources: See Jennison general sources.

Robert Jennison apparently moved from Watertown to Cambridge to Framingham to Sutton. He was a land-owner in Sutton in 1736, and he and Dorothy were members of the church in Sutton. The Martin Family genealogy says that Robert moved on to Auburn with his son Joseph late in life; and it is not clear whether he died in Auburn or Sutton..

Dorothy Thomas was the widow of Thomas Whittemore, whom she married in Boston 1715. (H.Bond says Whittemore was "of Watertown They had a son Thomas, who was baptized 1 Sep 1717.) PEH had some reason to believe that Dorothy was the daughter of Rebecca Maverick and Mr. Thomas. He may have been correct as Daniel Jennison, grandson of Robert and Dorothy, named a son Maverick. (See descendants of Joseph and Martha (Twiss) Jennison.)

Endnotes

Sources: In addition to the sources listed as general Jennison sources, the Watertown, MA Vital Records (Vol. I: 11, 29, 32, 34, 41, 44, 50, 55, 59, 95) confirmed much data in Samuel's family.

Samuel Jenison was admitted freeman 11 Oct 1682 and was active in Watertown community affairs. On March 6, 1682/3, town records. show, for example, that "The cuntry invoic was parfected and delevared to the commitioner Samuel Jenison to be caryed to the Shiertown as the law directs." (2:14) He was town clerk in 1691.

His will, dated 30 Nov 1700, was proved 3 Nov 1701. (Middlesex Probate 10:67, cited by Henry Bond.) Samuel was considered a wealthy man, his estate being valued at L383.1 (1270 silver dollars). His will, abstracted in H. Bond, mentions his widow Judith, all his then living children and some grandchildren, including daughter Rachel's illegitimate son. Many of the grandchildren are also listed in the Giles Memoirs..

Judith Macomber: PEH found three early Macombers: William, Thomas and John. Some of his sources said that they were from Exeter, Devonshire; and other sources said John, at least, was from Inverness, Scotland. The three were not necessarily brothers or even related.

From PEH's notes: William Macomber married Ruth White; and all of his descendants were accounted for. Thomas Macomber lived at Plymouth and left no descendants. John Macomber had been married when he came to New England in 1638. PEH found no record of children, but concluded that John was probably the father of Judith. John Macomber settled in Taunton, MA before 1643; and in 1659 had 24 acres and 4 "head." He married 2nd Mary Bobcock and had a son John and a daughter Mary who married Mr. Staples. John died 1687-1690. (PEH cites Maine Genealogy p. 1114.)

Sources: PEH; Henry Bond - Early Settlers of Watertown,p. 307; John Adams Vinton - Giles Memorial; Watertown MA vital records; MA Colonial Records.

Robert Jennison (93) is first mentioned in Watertown records regarding the birth of a daughter (Elizabeth) Apr 1637. He was admitted a freeman May 1645 (MA Col. Recs. 2:78-9) He died sometime after he made a codicil to his will 2 Apr 1687 and 7 Oct 1690 when his will was proved. (Middlesex Probate 7:92, cited in the Giles Memorial). Henry Bond provides the actual date of death. Robert's original will includes a reference to land that formerly belonged to his brother William Jennison, proving a relationship with an earlier emigre who lived in MA c.1630 - 1645 when he returned to England where he probably died.

In 1638 , William was granted 200 acres in MA, which was later (in 1657) conveyed to Edmund Rice by Robert Jennison as William's attorney. This deed names William as "of Colchester, Old England" which makes it possible that the Jennisons originated in Colchester Co. Essex.

Watertown records identify both Elizabeth and Grace (#94) as wives of Robert Jennison at the time of their deaths. The Town Records refer, also, to a "highway that leades from Robert Jenison down to the River...." (Town Records, 1884 ,p.5.)

John Twist (#73) was the son of Peter(#83) and Anne (Callum/Killam) (#84) Twist, according to PEH citing Marblehead MA vital records. Peter Twiss/Twist came to Salem, MA in 1680 as a yeoman farmer. (See Peter Twist family on the following page.)

Martha Twist (#68) is named as the wife of Joseph Jennison (#67) in the History of Sutton. PEH presumed that Martha was the daughter of John (#73) and Abigail (#74) based on the fact that John's mother (Ann Callum/Killam) Twist "had a son who had a daughter Martha."

Again according to PEH - there were no other granddaughters named Martha.

Note that Hannah Twist, Martha's sister, married Joseph Jennison's brother Elias—another tie to the Peter Twist family.

Peter Twist (#83) was in Marblehead, MA before 1680 and as a Yeoman Farmer came to Salem in 1680. PEH believed that Peter and Ann's son John was the father of Martha (see previous page) based upon some un-named record which stated that Ann "had a son who had a daughter Martha." Note that Twist brothers Daniel and Edward apparently m. Ebourne sisters. Also brother Peter Jr. and sister Martha married members of the Nurse family.

Ann Callum's (#84) ancestors: According to the records of PEH: Ann Callum/Killam was the daughter of Daniel Killam and Mary Safford:

Abstract of the Last Will and Testament of Amos
Singletary # 33780

Amos Singletary (#69) was the first male child born in Sutton, MA, according to both the History of Millbury and the History of the Town of Sutton." His birth was not listed in the Sutton vital records. He apparently lived as an adult on his father's land at Singletary Pond.
It was said that he never attended school, but was taught at home. During the Revolution, he represented Sutton in the provincial Congress. When the state government was formed, he served four years in the state house of representatives and later spent several years in the state senate. In addition, he was also a justice of the peace.

Amos became a committed Christian through the influence of Mary Curtis (#70), whom he later married. The couple were active members of their church; and through his various activities, Amos became well known and highly respected. The Sutton history tells that once during a period of revival, a citizen of Millbury who manufactured tools for farming saw Amos approaching on horseback. He rushed from his shop and ran to the street, calling, "Oh, Squire! Squire! What can I do to be saved?" Amos barely reined his horse long enough to say to the man, "Put more steel in your hoes!"

Amos' Will, dated 20 May 1801 and filed 11 Nov 1806, appointed his two sons-in-law Ebeneezer Burnap and Soloman Dwinnell executors. He ordered that a pair of gravestones be set up for himself and for wife Mary. His estate was to be divided equally among the surviving children: son Amos Singletary (Jr); daughter Greely Allen, deceased, for her heirs; Mary Gale; Mehitable Jennison (#21); Hannah Dwinnell; Thankful Burnap; and Lydia Richardson, dec. for her heirs. The children of son John Singletary, deceased, were to have $1 divided among them. Son-in-law Joseph Allen was also mentioned.

Amos Jr, youngest son of Amos and Mary, was the family rebel, causing his parents much difficulty. While he had married and had a large family, it was said that he spent his old age alone and penniless. When he was about eighty years old, he was visited by a friend, who was delighted when Amos Jr. showed him a well-thumbed Bible and confirmed that, in his old age, he had seen the light.

It is interesting to note that Amos Jr. was NOT named an executor of his father's estate as one might expect, adding some weight to the story that Amos Jr. was not in his father's good graces.

John Singletary married Sarah Jennision, the sister of Peter Jennison, husband of Mehitable. John Singletary of Oxford, in LWT dated 29 Jul 1770, named his wife Sarah who "is now big with child;" and his father Amos as executors. Sarah signed acceptance 24 October 1771, but receipt from Sarah Hart and John Hart in 1775. (Worcester Co., MA Probate 53784). October 1786: an account of Amos Singletary as guardian of Mary Singletary of Oxford, daughter of John 3 Jan 1786 (NO.53786)

Mehitable Singletary Jennison (#21) was "insane" in her later years, according to PEH; and brought about her own demise. Apparently the kindling used to start fires for cooking and heating were piled in the cellar to keep it dry. One cold December evening, she went down into the cellar and built a fire from the kindling on the cellar floor. His notes say she fell into the fire and burned to death. Eldridge Haynes wrote in a letter that he understood that the house burned down as a result.

Eldridge also wrote that it was said that Mehitable's daughter Chloe Jennison Eldridge (#11) awakened that same night because of what she perceived to be a bright light in the bedroom. There was no source or explanation for the light; and it could only be understood after the news of her mother's death reached her.

Endnotes

John Singletary was a cooper (maker of barrels). He married Mary Greele and settled in Salsbury. Salisbury records show that John bought land there and built a house later known as the old Littlefield House; but the family apparently lived there just a few years before removing to Framingham, where they lived for about 10 years. In 1721, they moved to Sutton. PEH said that John owned the land and water rights at the outlet of Singletary Pond, where he ran two mill stones.

John was captured by Indians at the age of 14 when his father was killed. He managed to escape and return to his family.

9. Martha Singletary
   - b. 20 Aug 1689 Haverhill, MA (born posthumously).
   - m. 30 Apr 1713 Peter Green; MA. (Children recorded in Haverhill)

Nathaniel Singletary (#85) lived all his life in Haverhill, MA. Haverhill vital records list all of his children Vol. 1, p. 276. His home was built after 1660 and in 1662, he was excused from miltary training because of lameness, while his brothers Amos and Benjamin were both listed among the town militia in 1676. Indians continually threatened all the frontier towns and Haverhill was no exception. While the town escaped the kind of total devastation suffered by Deerfield and other communities, there were frequent raids and sneak attacks for many years--all part of Prince Phillip's War. (See John Plympton and Nathaniel Sutliffe) One historical reference said that the inhabitants went nowhere without means of defense. "They went even to church with a Psalm book in one hand and a gun in the other."

On August 13, 1689, Nathaniel Singletary (#85) and his 14 year old son John (#75) (our ancestor) were working in a field near their home when Indians fell upon them and shot and killed Nathaniel. When John started to dash away, the Indians overtook him and made him a prisoner. They then scalped Nathaniel and began a hasty retreat, taking John with them. Later the same afternoon, John found his chance to escape; and he returned to his home before the end of the day.

....And 300 years later, we might pause to ask ourselves who we would be if John's encounter with the Indians that fateful afternoon had ended more disastrously.

Sarah Belknap(#86) : A History of Milbury (p.590) says that Sarah Belknap was the daughter of Abraham and Mary Belknap. There were two Abraham Belknaps: Abraham Belknap whose wife was Mary --; and who died 1643 in Lynn, MA. — which means he died 6-7 years before Sarah was born and one year before Sarah's husband (Nathaniel Singletary #85) was born. (See below) It makes more sense to assume Sarah (#86) was probably the granddaughter of this Abraham and Mary either by their son Abraham or their son Samuel.

Abraham Belknap (the first one) came to New England c. 1635; lived in Lynn MA as early as 1637, and later moved to Salem MA where he died. PEH says Abraham was baptized in Sawbridgeworth, Herts. England, 10 Mar 1589-90

PEH believed Samuel was probably the father of Sarah, but admitted he had no proof. I rather think she was the daughter of the second Abraham Belknap, but I don't have any proof of that either!

Abraham Belknap II appeared on an old Norfolk Co. Tax list in 1652. (Northeastern MA) He evidently moved to Haverhill c. 1670. Samuel Belknap was named in a Jan. 1675 list of persons whose houses were built in Haverhill under a law made in 1660. Both Samuel and Abraham II appear on a list of those who took the Oath of Allegiance (to the King of England) in Haverhill 22 Nov 1677. Abraham II was among those accused of fencing in common lands in Haverhill 1686. . This line needs more work.

Endnotes

Sources: See Endnotes of Amos Singletary

Richard Singletary's death is computed from his Haverhill death record — "husband of Susanna, d. Oct. 25, 1687, ae. 102 y." If this is correct, then he was in his fifties before he married and 71 when his youngest son was born. D.W. Hoyt in Old Families of Salisbury and Amesbury references "another statement" of his age which would make him born 1599--and therefore age 88 at death. .

He was a proprietor in Salem, MA 1637; in Newbury 1638 and in Salisbury 1639. He took the oath as a freeman 7 Sep 1638; and received land in Salisbury in the "first division" where he appears on the "Original list of ye townsmen of Salisbury in ye booke of Records." Also on that list are ancestors Joseph Moyce (Moys) and Andrew Greely. (Jos. Moyce's daughter married Andrew Greely Sr; and their granddaughter married John Singletary.)

Richard's first wife is known now only as "Goodwife Singletary." There is apparently no record of his second marriage, but Salisbury records list her as Susanna and Haverhill records say she was Susanna Cooke. Richard and Susanna lived in Salisbury until about 1653; and Richard appears on a Haverhill, MA, list of those whose house lots were laid out after 1650. In 1653, Richard was among those petitioning the court of Haverhill to revoke the sentence of one Robert Pike, who protested a law against preaching by non-clergy. Pike declared that such a law was "against the liberty of the country, both civil and ecclesiastical." The court turned a deaf ear on the petitioners, saying that their request was "unjust and unreasonable." They were called to post bond and explain themselves; but the Haverhill petitioners were excused because "they had acknowledged their offence."

Another court case which illustrates the temper of the times occurred in 1662, when Jonathan, oldest son of Richard (and brother of Nathaniel) then aged 23 testified against John Godfrey who was accused of witchcraft. Jonathan went to Woodbridge, NY in 1665

Seven children of Benjamin were recorded in Haverhill vital records 1:276.

Andrew Greely Sr (#99). appears on early lists of Salisbury, MA residents and proprietors, along with Joseph Moyce (#111) , and Richard Singletary (#95). All three were in Salisbury by early 1641 and attended the first general town meeting 3 Feb 1641. Andrew Greely Sr.(#99) was a shoemaker in Salisbury. Deacon Henry Brown (#101) was also an early inhabitant of Salisbury. Many members of all four families moved eventually to Haverhill, MA

George Brown (Jr.) may have been the first of the Brown family to move to Haverhill, for a George Brown appears on a Haverhill tax list in 1650. Richard Singletary (#95) and his family were living in Haverhill by May 1651 when Richard's name appeared on a petition, which George Brown also signed

In 1676 Richard Greely (spelled Grealy), brother of Andrew Jr. (#87) appeared on a list of soldiers with George Browne and Benjamin Singletary, youngest son of Richard Singletary (#95). These men had been mustered because of threatening war with the Indians. This is the same war (King Phillip's War) in which other of our ancestors lost their lives. (John Plympton #64 and Nathaniel Sutliffe #46)

In 1676, Joseph "Greelee", a brother of Andrew Greely, Jr.(#87) and Benjamin Greely were among those in Haverhill accused of fencing in common ground for their own use. Benjamin Singletary and "Lt. Browne" were also accused, as was another ancestor, Abraham Belknap (#97), father of Sarah Belknap Singletary (#88). In all fairness, it appears each land owner had originally paid for (or was personally granted) a portion of the land which was held in common by the town. The problem apparently came up, because some wanted to sell their land, including their portion of what the town called "common ground.." The common ground was used by all in the village for grazing their animals.

The children of Samuel and Hannah are all listed in Topsfield Vital Records.

Problems: While this group is probably basically correct, there is some doubt that John Curtis and Mary Look were the parents of Samuel. It may be that they were grandparents of Samuel. See Endnotes under John and Mary (Look) Curtis (#89 and #90). (p.96)

It also appears that Samuel was at least 7 years younger than Hannah Dodge, whose birth is registered in Beverly MA vital records. (His birth is registered in Topsfield vital records -- "son of Corp. John Curtis and Mary.") This is okay, but unusual. She died a widow in 1774, aged 82. Their last four children would have been born after her fortieth birthday, which strains credulity. Perhaps Samuel Curtis the younger (above) married a Hannah, and they are the parents of the last 4-5 children: Rachel, Eunice, Elijah, John, and Rebekah.

[Samuel's birth date seems to be the snag. Had he been born 5-6 years earlier, he would have been almost the same age as Hannah; and, at the same time, more likely the son of John and Mary Look Curtis.]

Even though this line is not totally accurate, it seemed important to me to pass on what information I have at this writing. (1999)

Problem: There is a 17 year gap between the first five children of John and Mary (Looke) Curtis and the birth of Samuel Curtis. Judith Luedemann, my genealogist, wrote: "It's possible that John married a second wife who was Samuel's mother; or Samuel could have been an afterthought, or a late accident....Most married women produced as many as seven children during that period of their lives (27-44 yrs.)"

Judith Luedemann also wrote concerning the Curtises "This problem reminds one that while early New England has been very, very well mined, and articles on its early inhabitants have been published in the New England Historical and Genealogical Register for pushing 150 years, there are still gaps; witness the articles currently appearing in various genealogical publications about recent identifications of wives, for example, found through happy happenstance or a deed, etc.

Zaccheus Curtis came to New England on the ship JAMES which sailed from Southampton, England 5 April and arrived 5 June 1635. He had been living in Townton, Co. Wiltshire. He received a grant of land in Salem, MA 1646. At one time, he lived in Gloucester, MA where his daughter Mary was born in 1659. He was called "of Topsfield" by 8 June 1663; and at least three of children were married in Topsfield 1672-78. It is said that he resided also in Rowley Village and Boxford. Curtis was spelled "Curtice" in early records.

Sources: PEH; Lynn MA vital records; and Topsfield, MA vital records.

I found nothing about Thomas Looke and family except the children listed in Lynn, MA vital records. There was briefly some confusion because Jonathan Looke married Mary Curtis; and Mary Looke married John Curtis, which meant that there was a Mary Curtis Looke, and a Mary Looke Curtis.

Discovered Process For Helium Gas

Funeral services for Pierre Evan Haynes, 65 years old, inventor of a helium process gas and a manufacturing chemist, who died Saturday in his home, 5048 Norwalde Avenue, will be held at 10 a.m. today in Shirley Brothers Central Chapel. Burial will be at Elwood.

Owner of the Professional Products Company, manufacturers of cosmetics and chiropractic supplies, Mr. Haynes won international recognition as an inventor of the helium extraction process and designer of the first two helium separation plants in the United States.

He retired last month as a consulting engineer chemist for the Linde Air Products Company and formerly was employed in the same capacity by the Koppers Company, Pittsburgh. At one time, he was president of the Canadian Dry Ice Company.

AS A CONSULTING chemist, he traveled extensively in Europe and was a recognized authority on helium. Following the Hindenburg disaster in 1937, he contributed an article to the Indianapolis Star explaining the danger of using hydrogen in dirigibles. Opposing the sale of helium to the Nazis in 1937, he verbally blasted the national administration for marketing a potential defense weapon.

Born at Kirklin, Mr. Haynes was graduated from Armour Institute and attended Northwestern University. At one time he lived in Elwood, was a resident of Indianapolis 13 years.

A member of Westminister Presbyterian Church here, he also was affiliated with Masonic Lodge and the Chemist Club of New York and of the Scottish Rite at Buffalo, N.Y.

Survivors include the widow, Mrs. Nelle K. Haynes; two brothers, Parke Haynes, Indianapolis, and Herman Haynes, Los Angeles, and a sister, Mrs. Frank Osborne.

Haynes

A family memorial service for Hermon Paige Haynes was held in the chapel of the Presbyterian church in South Bend, Indiana, April 18. The Reverend Daniel Fowler conducted the services.

Mr. Haynes died January 10 in Pasadena, California, where he and Mrs. Haynes had lived since moving from La Grange Park in 1940. They lived for 27 years at 311 North Ashland avenue. He was a member of the LaGrange Post of the American Legion.

Private interment was in Graceland cemetery, Valparaiso, Indiana.

Mr. Haynes is survived by his widow, Ruth Evans Haynes; a brother, Parke G. Haynes of Venice, Florida; and two nieces.

Mrs. Frank V. Osborn Dies; Taught Hospital Patients

Mrs. Mary Belle Haynes Osborn, who pioneered in bringing education to child patients of Indianapolis hospitals, died yesterday at Methodist Hospital after a prolonged illness. She was 56 years old.

Mrs. Osborn was born in Kirklin, and had lived in Indianapolis 36 years. She was a graduate of Elwood High School and Butler University.

She took the lead some 30 years ago in teaching public school subjects to children confined by long illnesses to General Hospital and Robert W. Long Hospital.

Mrs. Osborn was a director of the Planned Parenthood Association and a member of the Kappa Alpha Theata and Alpha Iota Latreian sororities, and the Tabernacle Presbyterian Church.

Surviving are her husband, Frank V. Osborn; two daughters, Mrs. Walter L. Shirley Jr., Indianapolis, and Mrs. Charles R. Hottman, Anderson; two brothers, Parke G. Haynes, Washington, and Herman P. Haynes, Pasadena, and a grandchild.

MRS. MARY BELLE OSBORN

Funeral services will be held at 3 p.m. tomorrow at the Shirley Brothers Central Chapel. Burial will be in Crown Hill Cemetery.

SCS Official To New Post

Parke G. Haynes, chief of the regional personnel division of the Soil Conservation Service since 1953, will leave tomorrow night to accept a position in Mexico City with the Office of Inter-American Affairs.

He has been appointed administrative officer of a project to rehabilitate the Mexican railroads, thereby expediting the shipment of war materials. Working with Haynes will be a number of railroad engineers and transportation experts.

Sorry to hear things are worse for Chuck. Thanks for news from your house. I don't know about this email thing. I have checked for days and had no mail, but when I tried to send one it came right in that I have 7 letters. Stupid thing!!. I hear they have moved Jo to St V in Carmel but I don't know why. Joalyn is having us for lunch next week so will know more then. I'm having Judy and Barbara Sibbit Montgomery Wierich Robertson for lunch tomorrow.I feel badly because I haven't seen Barbara for months. Judy is so good to her. What a waste.. She was so smart and so cute. Alzhiemers is so terrible. All for now. Thanks for all the news. Love, Jean

Hy Jean – Thanks for your newsy letter about the Kappa gathering. I also heard about it from Midge. Also Jean McClure Bielawsky reported on lots of people. She says Jo Koss is still in the hospital and her cancer is now in her liver. Please keep me posted.

My sister Janey is having a bad time. Husband Chuck is in the hospital and having one crisis after another. I think now, he will go .... it's just a matter of time. He has heart problems, breathing problems, and told Janey today he wants to die. She sound a little more collected and resigned tonight than she did a week ago when all this started. She has one daughter (Mary) in Anderson and Mary and husband Jim are bricks. They will be alot of help. We may be up in Indpls soon. Love you, Jean. And love to Katie and all the SKIDs. Oz
